Engineers To Confer On Modified Water Program

VOLUNTEERS CIRCULATING PETITIONS

Conference in San Francisco Expected to Result in Harmony

WITH VOLUNTEER workers circulating petitions asking the board of supervisors to call a second flood control and water conservation bond election at an early date, Orange County Flood Control Engineers, M. N. Thompson was preparing today to leave for San Francisco to discuss details of the plan with the board of supervisors' consulting board of engineers.

C. Roy Browning, director in the Orange County Water District who worked with F. C. Finkle, noted water engineer, in drafting the modified program, will leave with Finkle tomorrow night for San Francisco to join the conference, which is expected to start tomorrow morning.

Out of the meetings in San Francisco is expected to come a unified plan which is considerably less costly than the expensive plan which was defeated by voters of the county October 4. The proposed modified plan which will be considered provides for a saving to Orange county alone of around $3,000,000, according to authentic reports, and saves $5,000,000 in construction costs.

Size of the dam proposed for the Santa Ana river would be reduced to around 70 feet, several small dams would be eliminated from the program and the costs of purchase of rights of way would be slashed considerably under terms of the proposed modified program, according to reliable information.

Petitions asking the board of supervisors to call an election on a plan which will "provide for the minimum needs of the county" were being circulated in all parts of the county today, but special attention was being paid to Santa Ana, where the former and more expensive plan failed to show strength. W. H. Spurgeon, chairman of the Citizens' Water committee in charge of circulating petitions, said today that petitions bearing about 2000 names will be submitted to the supervisors next Tuesday, when a report on the new plan is to be made.

SOVIET RED ARMY ON ANNUAL PARADE

MOSCOW, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The Soviet union displayed its military as well as its industrial strength today when thousands of soldiers and civilians marched through Red Square in celebration of the 18th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Josef Stalin, secretary general of the Communist party, and members of the Soviet political bureau (equivalent of the cabinet in other countries) stood atop the parapet of Nicholas Lenin's tomb to review the Red army which filed past for more than two hours.

Behind the troops came tanks—five giant rolling fortresses being displayed for the first time—and light fast tanks, which dashed through the square at 40 miles an hour, followed by searchlight batteries.

SUPERVISORS TO MEET FRIDAY ON CALLING BOND ELECTION

THE COUNTY supervisors have been called to a special meeting tomorrow by Chairman John C. Mitchell, to act on the matter of procuring a legal opinion as to the board's right to call a bond election on the proposed modified flood control plan.

CHANDLER AND NEW DEAL WIN IN KENTUCKY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Lieut. Gov. A. B. ("Happy") Chandler, crooning candidate for governor endorsed by the New Deal, today held a wide lead over Judge King Swope, Republican, indicating heavy support, indicating heavy support, indicating heavy support.

Returns from 1576 of Kentucky's 4219 precincts gave Chandler 221,623 votes, and Swope 170,672. Republicans had counted upon a split in Democratic ranks to offset the support of Chandler by the national administration. Gov. Ruby Laffoon, Democratic national committeeman, and Thomas S. Rhea, defeated by Chandler in a run-off primary, had asked Kentucky voters to defeat the Democratic candidate.

Democratic headquarters here predicted Chandler's final majority would reach nearly 100,000, more than 20,000 more votes than Laffoon's majority over the Republican nominee four years ago.

Farley Delighted
Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, offered congratulations by telephone. He said: "That was a fine job and I am delighted. I congratulate 'Happy' and everybody who helped him make such a great race."

Despite a strenuous fight by the Anti-Saloon league and other dry forces, repeal of the state's 16-year-old prohibition amendment seemed assured. Returns from 771 precincts gave 75,828 for repeal and 62,775 against.

Voters also sided with the New Deal in instructing the legislature to enact old age pensions. Returns from 737 precincts gave 110,110 for and 13,601 against.

Clean Sweep
Democrats apparently carried all major offices. For lieutenant governor, Kenneth Johnson, Richmond publisher, had 8327 votes from 733 precincts while J. J. Kavanagh, Republican, had 7339.

The campaign tactics of Chandler were held responsible for a large share of the record-breaking vote. The 37-year-old lieutenant governor, an able orator of the Huey Long type, rode through the countryside in a sound truck topped by a red rooster.

Louis Bortz New Head Of Farm Group

Orange Man Chosen President Annual Meeting in Santa Ana Today

LOUIS A. BORTZ, of Orange, was named president of the Orange County Farm bureau for 1936, at the annual directors' meeting of the bureau, held this morning in the Medical building. He was vice president in 1935.

Other officers named include Dian R. Gardner, Orange, vice president; R. J. McFadden, Placentia, delegate to the state farm bureau; S. W. Stanley, Tustin, treasurer, and R. D. Flaherty, Santa Ana, re-elected executive secretary.

The board of directors for the ensuing year will include McFadden, Gardner, Stanley, Bortz, J. W. Crill, and Holmes Bishop, of Orange, elected at large.

Center directors will include L. P. Halderman, Anaheim; R. W. Hull, Foothill; N. M. Launer, La Habra; William Bielefeldt, Placentia; Fred Albers, West Orange; J. J. Denni, Cypress-Magnolia; Walter Schmid, Garden Grove; H. J. Burdorf, Orangehorpe, and S. L. Marshall, Yorba Linda.

Department directors for the next year were also named, including Ray Frantz, avocado; H. J. Crawford, beekeepers; Ned Clinton, dairy; H. J. Hinrichs, 4-H clubs; Clarence Brown, vegetable; L. J. Bushard, bean; D. D. Waynick, citrus; E. T. Watson, forestry; Ernest Zimmer, poultry; J. A. Smiley, walnut; Royal J. Mueller, membership.

Reports were heard this morning from all committee and department heads, and correspondence was received from the Citizens' Flood Control and Water committee, thanking the bureau for its assistance during the recent bond election; Alex Johnson, thanking the bureau for a fee to defend the pro-rate law.

S. M. Bathgate, of San Juan Capistrano, was seated as director-at-large, preceding the annual election of directors, and the budget for 1936 was discussed.

The budget will be outlined and voted on during the afternoon session of the board, it was determined. Awards for the best farm center during 1935 will be given during the afternoon, and resolutions to come before the State Farm bureau will be adopted.

FOG HALTS SEARCH FOR LOST AIRPLANE

BILLY SUNDAY DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART ATTACK IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday, world famous evangelist, died peacefully last night. He would have been 72 November 19.

The picturesque preacher, who brought thousands down "the sawdust trail to salvation," succumbed to an attack of angina pectoris at the home of his brother-in-law, William J. Thompson, a Chicago florist.

Beside him was his wife, Mrs. Helen ("Ma") Sunday, who married him when he was a professional baseball star nearly 50 years ago. Around him were the loose-leaf notebooks which contained sermons he had been studying in the expectation of continuing his revival meetings this winter.

"He was sensible about death," Mrs. Sunday said. "He told me only yesterday, 'If I go I know you'll be all right.' He often talked about dying when he was ill but yesterday he seemed more sure of it after he had an attack early in the morning."

"About 8 o'clock last night he had a sharp pain and said, 'I'm getting so dizzy, Ma.' Then he died."

Mrs. Sunday saw in her husband's death an example of the efficacy of prayer. "Billy," she said, "always used to pray, 'Oh, Lord, when I have to go, please make it quick.'"

BOURBOIS FEEL HIGH COST OF LIVING TAKES DECIDED JUMP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The New Deal, which has fathered a long list of alphabetical combinations, found a new and unwanted one crying on its doorstep today.

Administration leaders frankly were concerned over the HCOL—"High Cost of Living"—as reported in continued increases in retail food prices. Rents, too, are going up.

The increases have focused official attention on the bureau of labor statistics, a somewhat obscure division which gathers and compiles food cost data. Cabinet officers have asked to be kept informed on its reports.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace gathered newspapermen at his office yesterday and read excerpts from the bureau's report before it was released officially.

An increase of eight-tenths of one per cent in retail food prices in the two weeks ended Oct. 22 caused official concern.

Up 7 Per Cent
The report revealed it now costs the average housewife about 7 per cent more—an average of perhaps $1.50 a week—to fill the family market basket than it did three years ago.

Food prices are 127.6 per cent of what they were in 1913, when the national income was approximately the same. Prices still are 17.7 per cent below 1930, the bureau reported. The percentage of the family budget which must go for food, however, is higher.

Prizes Will Be Awarded Here Friday

Keen Interest Displayed in Miss Edwards' Class on Opening Day

PLANS for accommodating the greatest number of women over for tomorrow's final session of the big Register all-electric cooking school at 2 p. m. in the American Legion hall were being made today following the second day of the school today when more than 1000 women jammed the large auditorium. Many prizes will be awarded on the closing day.

The class tomorrow will begin promptly at 2 p. m. and plans for an entirely new program indicate that it will be the best of the popular series.

Keen interest has been shown by housewives in this cooking festival which is presided over by Miss Pauline Edwards. She has proved her reputation as an expert in devising new ways to bring out the individual charm of cookery, and has many friends during her stay here. Her enthusiasm for electric cooking has convinced many homemakers of its many advantages.

"Food is healthful when cooked on an electric range," Miss Edwards told her audience. "The unvarying heat in the surface units makes it possible to cook vegetables with very little water, thus preserving the vitamins and nourishment essential to good health. No special utensils are needed for this cooking, which is practically steaming."

"Tests show that meat shrinks very little when cooked in an electric range oven. A cut will thus make more servings, representing a real item of economy in food costs. Thrifty housewives further prefer electric range cooking because of the domestic wholesale electrical rate given the home where a range is used. When both an electric range and an electric water heater are operated, an even lower rate is enjoyed. This applies to all electrical service used in the home, and brings a welcome saving to the family budget."

Miss Edwards showed that the kitchen becomes a clean, efficient unit in the home when it is electrically equipped.

Some of the best of the valuable prizes being given away during the three days of the school will be awarded to fortunate women at the closing session. All of the electric equipment being used at the school is furnished by Harwood's, local Westinghouse dealers.

HURRICANE RACING TOWARDS FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 7.—(UP)—The U. S. weather bureau today issued the following advisory on the tropical hurricane:

"If present tendency continues, the center will reach the coast early tonight east of Pensacola, possibly near Apalachicola, Fla., attended by gales which may be dangerous over a small area near the center."

The advisory located the center of the storm about 150 miles south by east of Pensacola, Fla., moving apparently north-northeastward. Storm warnings remained displayed from Cedar Keys, Fla., to the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The storm apparently had lost its hurricane force.

SILVER SITUATION IN CHINA WATCHED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The federal government is keeping a close watch on Chinese silver developments. Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., said today, but there has been no change in the treasury's silver-purchase program.

Morgenthau refused to go into a detailed discussion either of Chinese or domestic silver developments.

ITALIANS ARE HALTED DURING MAKALE DRIVE

(Copyright 1935 by United Press) WITH GENERAL RUGGIERO SANTINI'S COLUMN IN NORTHERN ETHIOPIA, Nov. 7.—(Via Asmara, Eritrea)—(UP)—Italian troops have met with the bayonet the first Ethiopians to oppose them in their drive for Makale, it was announced officially today.

A detachment of Askari native troops from Eritrea, acting as scouts—the eyes of the main army on the ground—encountered the Ethiopians southwest of Hausien.

The Ethiopians resisted stoutly the advance of the Askaris under their Italian officers.

After a fight, the officers led their men in a bayonet charge in which the Italian loss, it was announced, was two white officers wounded, two non-commissioned Askari officers killed and 10 Askaris wounded. The Ethiopian's losses were unknown.

This was the first serious resistance since the advance upon Makale opened.

It indicated the possibility that resistance might be increased from now on. Ethiopian concentrations are in the area south of Makale and airplane observers have seen strong columns marching northward.

As the main columns march on Makale, the extreme left column is pushing southward on the edge of the Danakil country and the extreme right column, which is marching toward the Takkaze river valley through little known country, has reached the Sela Chacha area of Seire sub-province south and west of Asium.

It was planned officially to resume the general advance at dawn today. No reports, however, had been received at corps headquarters from the front lines at 9:20 a. m. The weather is chilly and there are occasional downpours of rain.

Reconnaissance indicate that there still are light forces of Ethiopians in the Makale area.

Embargo Against Ethiopia and Italy Mas Hasten Peace Plans

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—(UP)—A government communique disclosed today that Germany has declared an embargo on arms and war materials for Italy and Ethiopia and has made preparations to embargo raw materials and foodstuffs if it sees fit.

The embargo was imposed immediately upon the outbreak of war and long before the League of Nations voted its penalties against Italy.

It puts Germany in a position where its policy in the next few weeks may strengthen beyond hope of European statesmen the League of Nations' effort to penalize Italy for warring on Ethiopia, and may lead to negotiations which would mean a new diplomatic lineup in Europe.

The embargo is in effect. But, the communique added, in case Germany's export of raw materials or foodstuffs increases to the extent that it might jeopardize domestic economic interests, the government will take the steps necessary to prevent damage to the country's interests.

The communique denied "foreign reports" that the German consul at Geneva made a declaration to the League of Nations regarding Penalties. The German attitude of neutrality and non-participation in penalties is well known and is unchanged, it was said.

Under the policy outlined today, Germany may prevent increased exports to Italy, which would defeat efforts of League nations to deprive Italy of key products, or it might shut off all supplies desired.

It has been intimated several times that Adolf Hitler does not intend to get Germany mixed into the European crisis, that he wants peace and is determined to preserve his country's neutrality.

But it has been intimated also that as part of his neutrality he will not seek to defeat league action.

Today's communique was calculated to cause jubilation in league capitals.

USE DOG SLEDS TO RESCUE TWO CREWS

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Hoping to rescue the crews of two steamers trapped in fast-forming ice in the upper reaches of Lake Winnipeg, woodsmen today obtained dog sleds for a dash up the treacherous lake shore.

The rescue party left for Fisher bay last night by car and planned to start by dog sled into the snow-covered northern country today.

The Luana, with a crew of five captained by Roy Cook, of Selkirk, is believed held fast in ice at Knowow island in Knowow bay. The ship was to have picked up five fishermen at Kinaow.

The other steamer, the Lu-Berc, has not been reported since leaving Selkirk October 24 and may be in any one of countless harbors along the bleak shore. The crew of eight and 14 fishermen aboard are in no immediate danger if the ship has not met disaster.

The thrill of a lifetime came to the Democratic Hostetlers when President Roosevelt, on his visit here, in a typically and affectionate gesture, leaned out over the rail of the observation car to take Maralee into his arms. The huge crowd showed its appreciation of the gesture.

a more quiet campaign and did not discuss national issues. Both candidates denounced the state sales tax enacted by the Laffoon administration.

Chandler was running ahead of Laffoon's totals of four years ago in all precincts compared, Laffoon's 72,061 majority in 1931 was a record for the state since reconstruction days but Chandler apparently will set a new record when final votes are tabulated. In accordance with state law tabulation did not start until yesterday and all votes will not be in until later in the week.

EXPECT ARRESTS IN VANDALISM CASE

Sheriff's officers expected to arrest two youths tomorrow who are believed to have been the vandals who broke into the home of Mrs. Ida Wilson, Los Angeles woman, at Costa Mesa, several days ago and destroyed all the contents of the house.

A clue as to the whereabouts of the youths and their names are in the hands of officers today and the police merely await the arrival of Mrs. Wilson here tomorrow from Los Angeles to sign a complaint against them.

Harlow Granted Right To Operate Garage Business

Harry Harlow, former member of the firm of Hockaday, Harlow and Phillips, auto accessory house in Santa Ana, has the right to conduct a garage business, without violating his agreement with his former partners not to engage in competition with them. But he cannot act as distributor or wholesaler of any merchandise in competition with his former firm's products.

That ruling by Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday, concluded the trial of Harlow's suit against Hockaday and Phillips, in which Harlow asked the court to determine his rights under his agreement with his ex-partners, as to opening a garage business in Santa Ana.

Infant Son Of Glenn's Succumbs

Rejoicing on the part of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn, 2331 Bonnie Brae, over the birth this morning in St. Joseph hospital, of a son, turned to sorrow when announcement came from the hospital shortly after noon, that the infant had lived only a short time.

Screen Actress Seeks Annulment Of Sister's Vows

Dorothy Gulliver, the young Hollywood screen star, today petitioned Orange county superior court to annul the recent Santa Ana marriage of her even younger sister, Ethel Gulliver, on the ground that the girl, a theater usherette, was only 17 years old at the time of the marriage. George Nelson, an actor, was the bridegroom.

Dorothy had telephoned a protest to the marriage license bureau here on the day her sister was married, October 29, but her warning came too late. Ethel was not 18 until the following day, she stated.

In her suit for annulment, which she filed as guardian of her sister, Dorothy states that Ethel has not lived with Nelson, but resides with her mother, Mrs. Nellie Gulliver, 1334 North Formosa, Hollywood.

UTILITY AGENTS SPEAKERS FOR PEACE OFFICERS

Speakers representing the Southern California Edison company, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company, the Southern California Telephone company, the Southern Counties Gas Company and the Bank of America, aided in making the program given last night before the Orange County Peace Officers Association one of the best held in several months.

The meeting was held at the James Cafe here, and more than 70 officers and their wives attended.

The principal speaker of the evening was R. H. "Dick" Hilt, former assistant chief of police of Los Angeles, who has been retired for a number of years and who is now connected with the Los Angeles Railway Company. He talked on police work as he knew it in and about Los Angeles.

Other speakers were all chief special agents for their companies and all talked on their work in connection with police work. They were: O. W. Twitchell, of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company; Matt Hynes, of the Southern California Edison company; Claud Peters, of the Southern California Telephone company; H. D. Scofield, of the Southern Counties Gas company and H. M. Christenson, of the Bank of America. All were from Los Angeles.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Al Hasmer of Santa Ana, and employees of the Los Ross Dog Food factory at Los Alamitos and included singers and musicians. They were Harold Agel, Gordon Nell, and Miss Marjorie Longeval, secretary to Dr. Ross.

SHEARER BACK IN SACRAMENTO THIS MORNING

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 7.—(UP)—A bewildered, gray-haired old man returned to Sacramento today to face charges of having embezzled $24,000 from the California treasury.

When he stepped off the train after his journey from Fort Worth, Texas, William B. Shearer was greeted by plainclothes police officers, reporters and photographers.

"Looks like somebody was expecting Dillinger," a passenger remarked as he glanced at the crowd, then at the mild-mannered, quiet little man who served as cashier of the state treasury for 12 1/2 years before hurrying to Fort Worth to determine whether the oil investment he had made would be sufficient to cover the shortages in the cashier's accounts.

"I was treated wonderfully well in Fort Worth," Shearer said. "Everyone was most courteous and polite to me."

He made no mention of his "flight from justice" but talked about various interesting things he had seen and heard in Texas. The 74-year-old man admitted he was tired after the long train trip and because of the strain he had undergone during the past several weeks, but nevertheless he "felt pretty good, considering."

Keeps to Story

"Do you still assume the responsibility for the treasury shortages?" he was asked.

"That has been my statement all along," he replied.

"I'm a bit tired now. I want to rest a few days, and I'd rather not talk about it."

He was told that one of his statements to District Attorney Otis D. Babcock conflicted with State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson's version of a $600 loan 10 years ago. Shearer said this was to cover a shortage. Johnson insisted he knew nothing about the shortage, but thought it was merely a personal loan.

"I don't want to discuss that until I have had a chance to talk to Mr. Johnson," Shearer said. "I don't wish to make any misstatements. I am anxious to talk to Mr. Johnson."

"What plea do you expect to enter? Are you going to seek probation?"

"I don't know. I just got here. I don't know what I'm going to do."

"Do you plan to see Mr. Shearer soon?"

"I hope so," he replied emphatically. "I have no knowledge of that situation."

No Friends Present

Although Shearer is widely acquainted here, none of his friends was at the station to meet him.

He was taken to the city jail and booked in. A middle-aged drunk was moved away from the desk to make room for the neatly dressed little silver-haired man. Another drunk, a young man roughly dressed, staggered away from his longings spot against the wall and addressed the group with:

"Do you think I'm a bad boy? The police say I'm a bad boy."

Shearer looked bewildered. A uniformed policeman frisked him, removing from his pockets two $5 bills, 15 cents in change, baggage checks and a silk muffler. He signed his name to the record, then was taken to Babcock's office. Later, he was to be fingerprinted and assigned to a cell.

The district attorney said he was undecided what charge to bring, whether to seek an indictment or have Shearer testify before the grand jury.

"I am not satisfied that he has told everything, or that all he has said will stand up," Babcock said. "I think someone else in the treasury had something to do with those shortages."

Babcock said he would be glad to have Shearer talk to Johnson.

"He's a fine old man," Babcock remarked.

TAXICAB BANDIT HELD FOR TRIAL

Phillip Antons, alias William Page, charged with grand theft and robbery in connection with the stealing of a taxicab here several days ago, waived his preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today and was held to answer on both counts to the superior court.

Ball of $5000 was demanded which was not made.

Antons, who said he lived in Berkeley, was arrested at Salinas with the stolen cab by police there. He entered the cab here as a passenger and was driven to Saugus by Ira Verbiel, local cab driver when Antons held him up and took the cab, according to the police.

A tin whistle was used instead of a gun in the holdup, it was discovered after the man's arrest. He is said to have confessed to the crime.

Sayings Of Will Rogers

We got a long-sighted government. When everybody has got money they cut the taxes, and when they're broke they raise 'em. That's the statesmanship of the highest order.

The reason there was not much unemployment in the last few years preceding 1929 was every man that was out of a job went to work for the government—state or city.

It costs ten times more to govern us than it used to, and we are not governed one-tenth as good.

Congress knocked the rich in the creek with a 72 per cent income tax.

Now they got such a high inheritance tax on 'em that you won't catch these old rich boys dying promiscuously like they did.

This bill makes patriots out of everybody. You sure do die for your country if you die from now on.

If people used as much tooth paste as they are advised to over the radio, a small tax on it would just about pay our national debt, to say nothing of lip rouge.

BILLY SUNDAY DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART ATTACK IN CHICAGO

The evangelist's two sons, William A. Jr. and Paul T. Sunday, were to arrive by plane today from Los Angeles. Funeral services probably will be held in Chicago.

Billy Sunday took up religious work in 1891, after a career in baseball in which he became widely known, playing as a star outfielder with several National league teams, including Chicago, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

He became an assistant secretary in the Y.M.C.A. as his first work as a rough riding soldier of the cross. He continued in that position until 1896. Then he launched into the evangelistic field in which he won fame that spread to all quarters of the globe.

He was ordained a Presbyterian minister by the Chicago Presbytery in 1903, but continued his work as an evangelist, making his home at Winona Lake, Ind.

Manner of Delivery

It was not that Sunday presented anything new to his audiences, but it was the manner in which he delivered his sermons that made him take like wildfire wherever he appeared.

This flair for the spectacular it was that made his listeners, take to the far-famed sawdust trail.

He concentrated his heavy fire on "Rum and the Devil." He had an engaging stage with him in the opening of his sermons. Then a dynamic and almost pyrotechnic outburst with voice and arms, panther-like jumping about the stage and gestures that were hyperdramatic would sweep his hearers down the sawdust trail to his altar of conviction.

Rolls Up Sleeves

With his intensity he would strip down to his shirt, with sleeves rolled up and collar off, before his audience barely had time to realize that he had thrown off coat and vest.

The form of preaching met with approval almost everywhere. There was little doubt of that. And if this style met with approval, his language certainly was in a class by itself in so far as clerical standards went. If he quoted the Bible, which he frequently did, he did it a la Billy Sunday, and not at all like Matthew, Mark, Luke or John.

The evangelist was a good manager. He made a good bargain, a fair one with cities that sought approval almost everywhere. There was little doubt of that. And if this style met with approval, his language certainly was in a class by itself in so far as clerical standards went. If he quoted the Bible, which he frequently did, he did it a la Billy Sunday, and not at all like Matthew, Mark, Luke or John.

His Own Choir

Sunday had a complete organization including his own choir. After this country entered the war he combined his religious work with war work, speaking in many parts of the country in support of patriotism. In December, 1917, one of his war talks in Atlanta, Ga., he made a bitter attack on the Germans and their allies and said he "did not believe God would be on the side of a dirty bunch that would stand by and see a Turk outrage a woman."

A German named Beuterbaugh, who had gained a seat on the platform by pretending that he was a minister, advanced toward Sunday and a furious fist fight ensued, in which Sunday merely held his own, until police intervened and arrested Beuterbaugh.

No sooner had the spectacular apostle attained fame than controversy took his trail. One of the accusers on that line was one Sidney C. Tapp, a writer of books about Christ and the Bible that were out of the ordinary. One of them had the title, "Why Jesus Was a Man and Not a Woman."

Tapp sued Sunday, charging that "the said William A. Sunday, being an evangelist for profit," had appropriated and "palmed off on his audiences" the ideas and language of Tapp's books, "but in a vulgar and suggestive manner" and that the "so-called trail-hitting is produced by the defendant by appeal to the emotions and in stirring up the senses by a combination of carrying the United States flag in one hand and the Bible in the other."

Many ministers of the gospel deplored Sunday's methods, but they would say he did have religion.

Sunday would always answer the men of the cloth who took him to task with the remark that all he was doing was "preaching the old-style religion—which is good enough for me and for all."

During his war work he became as spectacular in patriotism as he was in religion. One of his phrases that caught the popular fancy was "Mutt's League" referring to the League of Nations. He was a stout champion of the American Legion, saying it was the "bulwark of the nation."

In his early days in evangelism, just emerging as he had from the strenuous life of the ball parks, Sunday was once in a while given to outbursts of personal emotion outside the pulpit.

There were a few occasions when the evangelist's advent would produce in a community a fervor that led to demonstrations in which he would find himself in personal danger, but he never failed to carry the day when such emergencies arose.

Billy Sunday was converted in the Pacific Garden Mission in downtown Chicago. His wife, who became affectionately known as "Ma" Sunday, was Helen Thompson. She married Billy Sunday when he was a baseball star, and in his evangelistic field she became a vital part of his great success. He was born in Ames, Iowa, November 19, 1863.

His father was a Civil war soldier in the Union army, Twenty-third Iowa regiment, Company E. Billy never saw his father, who went to war a month before his son was born, and died at the front.

As a youngster he was "what sportsmen call a natural athlete. He played baseball and played it well. He began in the Soldiers' Orphan home, where he and his brother Edward spent part of their boyhood, at Glenwood, Iowa. He continued playing through his high school days in Nevada, Iowa.

In 1882 he was playing what probably was semi-professional baseball with a team from Marshalltown, Iowa, when Adrian Anson, more widely known as Pop Anson, signed him for the Chicago White Sox of the National league. In his time he was the fastest base runner in the circuit and an excellent outfielder.

be tempered by examination of the details of the vote. New York gave Democratic candidates a collective 59 per cent of votes cast for the assembly. There was a tendency update to return to Republican moorings but it is a fact that Mr. Roosevelt is personally popular in the upstate Republican country and may outdraw candidates for lesser office when he runs next year. In any event, New York voted Democratic Tuesday.

The city of New York plumed for the Democrats. The Tammany and affiliated organizations took 62 of the 65 seats in the aldermanic council, including 14 of the 16 Republican and Fusionist seats. Tammany and the New Deal have not been friendly so it remains to be seen how the tiger will treat Mr. Roosevelt on election day, 1936.

With the entire afternoon session built around the talk by Dr. Merrill Hollingsworth of Santa Ana on the history of syphilis and his exhibit of rare books, the Joint Institute of California State Nurses association, Orange county, San Pedro and Long Beach districts, opened a two-day program in Long Beach today.

Santa Ana nurses present at the initial session included the Misses Edith Tedford, Caroline Larson, Etienne Isabelle, Helen Anderson, Grace Johnson, Anna Butterfield, Gladys Neff, Mesdames Floyd Phelps and Mabel Grouard. Participants from Orange were Miss Leona Wunderlick, Mrs. Anne Stolpe Lockhart, Sister Mary Ange and Sister Augustine.

The institute will conclude tomorrow evening with an address by Lewis Browne, author, on "What I Saw in Russia" at 8 o'clock in the Unitarian Community hall.

RED CROSS OPENS DRIVE ON NOV. 11

FULLERTON, Nov. 7.—The Fullerton chapter of the Red Cross will open its annual roll call of members November 11, with Harry Smith as chairman of the roll call committee.

Arrangements were completed Tuesday night at a meeting of the chapter at the city offices, with Lloyd Verry presiding. Mrs. Laura Warren, Orange county head of Red Cross, made her first visit to a Fullerton chapter meeting.

There were a few occasions when the evangelist's advent would produce in a community a fervor that led to demonstrations in which he would find himself in personal danger, but he never failed to carry the day when such emergencies arose.

Billy Sunday was converted in the Pacific Garden Mission in downtown Chicago. His wife, who became affectionately known as "Ma" Sunday, was Helen Thompson. She married Billy Sunday when he was a baseball star, and in his evangelistic field she became a vital part of his great success. He was born in Ames, Iowa, November 19, 1863.

His father was a Civil war soldier in the Union army, Twenty-third Iowa regiment, Company E. Billy never saw his father, who went to war a month before his son was born, and died at the front.

As a youngster he was "what sportsmen call a natural athlete. He played baseball and played it well. He began in the Soldiers' Orphan home, where he and his brother Edward spent part of their boyhood, at Glenwood, Iowa. He continued playing through his high school days in Nevada, Iowa.

In 1882 he was playing what probably was semi-professional baseball with a team from Marshalltown, Iowa, when Adrian Anson, more widely known as Pop Anson, signed him for the Chicago White Sox of the National league. In his time he was the fastest base runner in the circuit and an excellent outfielder.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

A loving God could not desire you to grieve before His power nor permit you to suffer unnecessarily. He is your Father. You may tell Him that you do not understand why suffering came to you but ask Him for strength to bear it like a man and to use it as a means for deeper understanding and larger service to your fellows. He wants your trustful cooperation, not your servile endurance.

CURRIE—November 6, 1935, at her home, 185 South Birch street, Evelyn Currie, age 55 years. She is survived by two sons, Dr. Robert C. Currie and Archie L. Currie, both of Santa Ana; two sisters, Mrs. Laura Ingham, of Montebello; Mrs. Mannie Rhea Haviland, of Los Angeles; one brother, Clarence E. Aldrich, of Montebello. Announcement of funeral later by Harrell and Brown.

REES—In Santa Ana, November 6, 1935, Earl LeRoy Reese, aged 54 years. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lois McElhany, of Long Beach and two brothers, J. C. Reese and Harvey Reese, of Shelby, Pa. Services are to be held from the Winibger Mortuary, 609 North Main street, tomorrow, November 8, at 10 a. m. Interment in Santa Ana cemetery. He had been a resident of Santa Ana but a short time.

EPLEY—Funeral services for C. Epley, of 352 South Parker street, Orange, will be held at the First Christian church of Orange Friday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Franklin Minck officiating. Mr. Epley is survived by a son, Harold, of Los Angeles; three brothers, George and Isaac, of Knoxville, Ill., and Robert, of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Gross, of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Laura Johns, of Knoxville, Ill. The body is at the Shannon Funeral home. Interment will be at Fairhaven cemetery.

MARTIN—Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Orange Trinity Episcopal church for Mrs. Frank T. Martin, of Orange, who passed away Tuesday at an Oceanside hospital following injuries in an automobile accident. Services conducted by the rector of the church, the Rev. J. A. Shirley under the direction of the Gilegely chapel.

FOURTH STREET FIRM SUPPLIES FOOD FOR CLASS

Oswald's Fourth Street Market has been selected to furnish the meats and groceries and vegetables for the Register all-electric cooking school now in progress at the American Legion hall, it was announced yesterday.

Miss Pauline Edwards, noted home economist who is conducting The Register all-electric school, is using the fine meats and groceries from Oswald's market in preparing the tempting and economical dishes at the class sessions, which close with the final session tomorrow afternoon.

Extra special prices on many items in all departments of the big Oswald market have been set for the benefit of cooking school shoppers who want to try their hand at preparing the delicious dishes Miss Edwards has shown them how to make.

The meat department at the market, operated by Manager George Apel, said to be outstanding for the fine quality baby beef and other meats it handles. That shoppers appreciate this fine quality is shown in the fact that the market has shown a constant increase in business since opening under new management about a month ago, Apel said. The Oswald concern has grown to be one of the largest independent retail meat concerns in the United States, it was stated.

Glenn Young is manager of the grocery department, which handles "popular nationally advertised merchandise of every description at fair prices." William Townsend operates the vegetable market, where fresh fruits and vegetables, said to be of exceptional quality, are displayed for shoppers.

A. C. EPLEY RITES CONDUCTED FRIDAY

Funeral services for A. C. Epley, who was found dead in bed at his home at 352 South Parker street, Orange, yesterday, will be held from the First Christian church of Orange Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Franklin Minck officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

An inquest to determine the cause of death was scheduled to be held this afternoon at the Shannon Funeral home in Orange. It is believed that death was due to a heart attack.

Survivors are a son, Harold, of Los Angeles; three brothers, George and Isaac, of Knoxville, Ill., and Robert, of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Gross, of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Laura Johns, of Knoxville, Ill.

Ends Jail Term; Arrested Again
Jim Hamby, 25, of 327 East Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, was rearrested at the county jail today and is being held for violation of probation.

He was given probation of five years last January after conviction of theft of a car. Several days ago he was booked at the county jail on a drunk charge and when he finished the term today was being held for violation of the probation.

Injured Man's Story Doubtful
Sheriff's officers today denied the report that Harold McCullough, of 4023 Orange street, Riverside, found lying at the side of Highway No. 101 several days ago, was in a serious condition and declared they were not so sure about his story that he was robbed and pitched out of a car.

In the meantime the sheriff's

HOLD SHOOTING VICTIM UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Thomas Walker Calahan, who was shot through the chest twice and in the leg at Seal Beach several days ago, was today a patient in the Orange county hospital, under heavy guard.

He was transferred here late yesterday by Merle Dean, chief criminal deputy sheriff and Deputy Sheriff James Workman. His condition is good and he will recover from the three bullet wounds, hospital attendants said today.

Mystery still surrounds the shooting, officers said, although almost every day sheds some light on the man himself. Today he was identified as a former convict in the Missouri state penitentiary. It was already known that he was an escaped convict from the Ohio state reformatory, having run away from a road camp early last year.

Arrest has been notified of his arrival here, but will not send for him, the sheriff's office reported today. He was serving from 10 to 20 years there for robbery, but the state does not think enough of him to go to the expense of returning him to prison, according to Dean.

Dean today filed two charges against the man, one a charge of a felon carrying a concealed weapon and the other a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. The latter case is based on his reported attempt to shoot Officer Irving Glenn of the Seal Beach police department.

Glenn shot at the man and the wound in his leg is supposed to have been made by the officer. Glenn charged that Walker snapped his pistol at him several times while a chase between the man and Glenn was in progress on a Seal Beach street.

CARNAHAN HEADS LEGION DRUM CORPS

H. R. Carnahan last night was elected commander of the American Legion Drum Corps, when the annual election of officers was held. F. A. Baker was named secretary and treasurer and the executive committee will include G. L. Cramer and I. A. Mercer.

The office of manager was declared vacant pending a revision of the by-laws, it was announced. A report of the year indicated that the corps for 1935 has been one of the most outstanding in the entire state. It recently won a silver medal as one of the best drum corps in the state in an exhibition given before the California Pacific International Exposition at San Diego.

TUSTIN RESIDENT STRUCK BY AUTO

Mrs. Florence Stone, 70, of Tustin, was knocked down and severely injured at 5 p. m. yesterday at Main and D streets in Tustin by an automobile driven by Joseph Williams, of 1222 East Second street, Santa Ana.

She was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital where attending physicians said she suffered cuts about the head and bruises on the body. After being given first aid treatment, she was removed to her home.

Williams was not held, according to John Stanton, chief of police, who made an investigation.

Investigation into the case continues, according to Merle Dean, chief criminal deputy sheriff. McCullough is in the Orange county hospital.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY FARM BUREAU SHOWS YEAR'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS; SETS AIMS

The Orange County Farm bureau, throughout 1935, maintained a paid membership of 1480 farm families, it was revealed in the annual bureau report, issued today by President John Crill and Executive Secretary Roland D. Flaherty.

Listed as work accomplished during the past year, nine farm centers have been maintained; the fourth annual bulletin of comparative school costs was prepared and distributed to each school trustee as a guide to making up school budgets; the Orange County Sewage Reclamation committee was organized, resulting in the building of a model reclamation plant.

Road Tax Reduced
Rural road taxation was reduced through the efforts of the Farm bureau, from a rate of 40 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in 1931-32 to a rate of 4 cents in 1935-36, a saving of 4 cents in 1935-36, a saving of 4 cents in 1935-36, a saving of 4 cents in 1935-36.

Represented Orange County farmers before the planning commission in the development of a "land use ordinance," organized the Orange County Vegetable Growers association; in cooperation with California Lima Bean Growers association, started a fight to secure a reduction in the present high compensation rates for lima bean farming.

Represented the farmers before the supervisors and Orange County Emergency Relief Committee, and secured the adoption of a policy under which all agricultural workers were dropped from SERRA rolls on May 10, 1935; secured a modification of the tomato grading laws, and developed a group compensation insurance policy for its members.

Aims Listed
The bureau listed as its general active policies for the next year the elimination of overlapping county governmental offices; an equalization of representation between city and rural districts on the county planning commission; a balancing of the state budget by reducing expenses.

Opposition of the building of any new roads in the county; reduction of water pumping costs; elimination of rural road taxes; lowering of interest rates for farmers; increase of farm income, and the balancing of use and supply of water in Orange county.

Besides this general statement of aims and accomplishments of the bureau, the report also contains detailed account of activities of each farm center in the county, of each department of the bureau, and of each committee operating through the bureau.

ISSUE WARNING ON FAKE SOLICITOR

Police and sheriff's officers were today searching for a man posing as an advertising man for their police annual.

There is no Orange county police annual and the man who appeared in a service station at Seventeenth street and Harbor boulevard yesterday, soliciting advertising in a "fake" officers said today.

First Anniversary Observed by Club

Celebrating the first anniversary of Townsend club No. 8, approximately 80 members joined in a birthday party at Lincoln school Tuesday evening.

Program for the event included readings by Mrs. George W. Hall, music by Fribee's orchestra, and reports of the recent national convention by visiting presidents of various Santa Ana clubs.

Community singing was followed by refreshments which included a decorated birthday cake with one gleaming candle, the contribution by Mrs. J. H. Nicholson. Assisting Mrs. Nicholson in serving were members of her social committee, Miss Margaret Esau and Miss Mary Craig.

GRANT PERMIT FOR DISPOSAL PLANT AT BEACH

The Sunset Beach sanitary district project for construction of a sewage disposal plant, has been approved by the State Board of Health, and a permit granted for the project, effective November 15, unless cause is shown meanwhile why the project should not be permitted.

This announcement was made today by the state board through Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer. It stated that the sewage project would be allowed to proceed November 15, unless a public hearing is forced by protests against it. Such protests, according to state law, must be confined to matters of menace to health, or public nuisance.

The works proposed would consist of a sewage clarifier, a gas-tight sludge digester, equipped to burn the gases of digestion, a sludge drying bed, part of which would be enclosed within a glass greenhouse for winter conditions, and, finally, chlorination of the sewage effluent.

The sewage plant would be located southeast of the Bolsa slough crossing of Los Patos avenue.

MRS. E. B. CURRIE DIES AT HER HOME

Mrs. Ethlyn Blanche Currie, 55, of 105 South Birch street, died last night at her home, following a long illness. A native of Ohio, she had lived in Santa Ana for the past 29 years. She was the widow of the late William Robert Currie. She is survived by two sons, Dr. Robert C. Currie and Archie L. Currie, both of Santa Ana; two sisters, Mrs. Laura Ingham, of Montebello; Mrs. Mannie Rhea Haviland, of Los Angeles; one brother, Clarence E. Aldrich, of Montebello.

Funeral services, which will be announced later, will be under the direction of the Harrell and Brown Funeral home. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Local Briefs

Charles Roemer, observer at the Santa Ana J. C. meteorological station, reports maximum and minimum temperatures Wednesday of 76 at 1 p. m. and 35 at 6 a. m. The average wind velocity for 24 hours was 1.1 m. p. m. Relative humidity at 3 p. m. yesterday was 35 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walker, 511 West Third street, left today for Palm Springs. Mrs. Walker expects to be there several weeks, but Walker, proprietor of Walker's State theater, will return in about a week.

Paul B. Jeklin, 26, and Georgia L. Madison, 25, both of Anaheim, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

STRIKES ESTRANGED WIFE; GOES TO JAIL

Charles F. Dearborn, 61, of 1033 North Ross street, was arrested by Santa Ana police officers yesterday afternoon and lodged in the county jail on a charge of assault and battery.

He is charged, according to a police report, with striking his wife, from whom he is estranged in the face with a package. The offense is said to have taken place in the offices of the SERRA, at Second street and Broadway, earlier in the day.

Assistant Chief of Police Harry Pink and Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford made the arrest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—What makes the bulls and hyenas so happy in Wall Street these days is that public money is coming in. They have not seen any such long green fodder in four years or more.

To enjoy the extent of it, they look at the brokers' loans figures. While stock values increased $2,500,000,000 during October, loans increased only $11,189,500. There may be many technical explanations for this, but one is that people bought stocks with cash last month. As few speculators hereabouts use cash until apprehended, the conclusion may be justifiable that the country is getting back to its old pastime of picking investment winners.

Savings banks have cut interest rates to 2 per cent. Bond yields figure only about 3 per cent, generally. New tax regulations make it inadvisable to sell stocks for quick profit. Consequently, the zoological experts are trusting that the fodder will continue plentifully (off and on) for the winter.

BURNS

It is rather freely admitted among men in the street that some stocks are high on a basis of expected earnings next year. Also that inflationary expectations have been somewhat overplayed so far as the immediate future is concerned.

It is likewise true that the call money rate recently was trebled from the infinitesimal figure of 1-4 of 1 per cent, although that appears to have been an academic move, as there is little or no demand.

These burns in the trough are not considered seriously, however. What all the animals have their eyes on are reports from the Federal Reserve Board indicating that the board is worrying increasingly about excess bank reserves (now around $2,000,000,000).

At this end opinion seems to be rather general that the board will take no important restraining action during the next few months, but may make unofficial gestures.

RETIREMENT

When ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker said the other day he was through with public life, he may not have meant it, but it was nevertheless true.

MEMORIES

The bald truth is that Walker is a marked man politically. A large group of his political supporters has turned against him for reasons other than political. They still like him personally. The demonstration staged upon his return was authentic. Jimmy will undoubtedly get a lot of law business from his friends.

But voting for him for public office is another thing—and apparently a permanent thing. No worthwhile authority here believes the situation will change as long as certain middle-aged men now living are still alive.

TROUBLE

Silver boys here believe that Japan is on the high scent in suspecting British influence behind the recent abandonment of the silver standard by China. All they really know about it is that the recent British mission to China was supposed to have been active along that line.

Local silverites are counting on the Chinese nationalization of the metal to close part of the treasury silver market. They do not appreciate that Chinese smugglers will do. Even the death penalty has failed to stop them thus far.

The best quick guess here was that the effects of China's move would be more political than economic. The Far Eastern situation is working up to the point when it may push the Ethiopian engineering problem off the front page.

MR. FIXIT

Al Smith will deny it, but he may be the next mayor of New York.

Everyone who knows anything about politics here concedes that Mayor La Guardia is through. No fusion mayor ever lasted more than one term. Tammany may be defeated when there is a whooping insurrection on. Everything now is getting back to normal.

At the same time the wigwag chiefs are talking about the advisability of putting forward an outstanding candidate. The city government organization is upset with newcomers and innovations. Tammany wants someone who can fix things up. Smith is about the only one in sight who can do it.

The plan of the Tammany chiefs is to get on the right side of him some morning and make it a duty for him to accept. He probably will this time.

ADVANCE MAN

Whatever you may have heard that Al Smith is supposed to have said privately about President Roosevelt is undoubtedly true. It appears Mr. Smith has said nearly everything. And in case he forgets on occasions, there are members of his family who will refresh his memory.

Al's friends are now sadly referring to him as "the man who lived ahead of his time." He was wet before it was popular. He struck the first blow at the New Deal, when it wasn't cricket. If he were editing that magazine now, he would be riding a surfboard. But then he would not be Al Smith.

Note—Al probably will not speak for or against anyone in the coming presidential campaign.

DISTRICT
Some unusually well-posted New York sources are beginning to get skeptical about the authenticity and permanence of recovery.

Their doubts are based on reports from reliable scouts to the effect that three factors are combining to give an exaggerated picture of the upturn. One is evidence that many corporations and individuals have decided in recent months that it's better to have goods than cash in a rising market. A number of important companies have been building up raw material inventories far beyond normal needs on this premise. This has increased the volume of commodity sales and stimulated prices—but obviously this type of buying cannot continue indefinitely.

Then there's the fact that trainloads of cotton, copper, mules and other munitions materials in the raw have been shipped to Great Britain's order—jacking up trade activity in general and carloadings in particular. The result is a nice showing in current business statistics—but this kind of business is non-recurring and may not last very long.

Third is the question whether business high spots aren't being played up too much and low spots ignored. Private reports from all around the country tend to indicate as much. Insiders have a deep-rooted distrust of prosperity ballyhoo. They remember 1931 and 1932.

UNCERTAIN

It was the consensus of opinion at a recent meeting of industrial bigtimers that the present upward trend cannot carry into next summer. The meeting was private and this conclusion—being off the record—can be taken as sincere.

young MOTHERS

Take no chances. Children's colds are best treated without "dosing." At bedtime, just rub on VICKS VAPORUB.

PROVED BY 2 GENERATIONS

It presents a different prospect from the rosy one in which official Washington has faith.

If leading industrialists feel this way about it chances are they will discount their judgment in advance by selling commodities and securities before they figure the letdown is due. If enough of them do so the decline which they predict as certain for the summer of '36 would more probably develop in the spring.

There is no cause for alarm but there is for discretion. Many people are taking positions on the basis that we are in the midst of a sustained boom. Astute New Yorkers see the future as uncertain enough to warrant being careful.

ABSORB

New York insiders rate the shooting of the Chinese premier the beginning of a bitter-end campaign against the close ties between the Chinese government and Japan. The Chinese government has to depend on the support of Japanese soldiers for the collection of money it needs in order to function.

But sentiment is not on China for the Chinese is breaking up. Educated Chinese leaders are thoroughly disillusioned with the west—whose professions of friendship have invariably been worth nothing in time of stress. They note on the other hand that Japan has learned how to deal most successfully with the west. So they figure the only way to adapt occidental progress to their own problems is by accepting Japanese leadership.

This does not imply the ultimate abandonment of Chinese nationalism. The Chinese have always swallowed up their earlier conquerors—Mandchus and Mongols—in the course of time. They feel they will eventually absorb their new Japanese overlords the same way. If it takes a century or two—what of it? That would be only a momentary phase in the eternity of Chinese history.

HOMES

Harold Ickes has quietly trimmed his sails so that the supreme court's expected crackdown on his club clearance experiments will not stymie the program.

What the court may object to, as a lower body did, is taking of land by federal condemnation. But Mr. Ickes has abandoned that procedure for purchase by negotiation with landlords. If they refuse to sell, he drops the scheme. He estimates that he has inaugurated $150,000,000 worth of building projects which the "nine old men" cannot touch with their judicial scepter.

Housing legislation will be the "big push" at the next session. Senator Wagner of New York studied the problem in Europe during the summer—supposedly at FDR's suggestion. "Bob" has not revealed his plans. But it is understood he will urge a $1,000,000,000 federal expenditure for low-cost construction of homes, with $200,000,000 to be spent yearly. Interest rates for the money will average about 3 per cent, and the construction "kitty" will serve as a revolving fund.

POWER?

Felix Frankfurter's "hot doggers" hotly dispute Hugh Johnson's statement that the professor dominates the administration. They deny that he recruited the "brain trust," explaining that Mr. Frankfurter simply suggested a few men who seemed to have a special gift for framing and administering the kind of laws the president wanted—Jim Landis, Ben Cohen, Tommie Corcoran, Jerome Frank, etc. They tell stories which indicate that Mr. Roosevelt rejected the professor's advice more often than he accepted it.

The Harvard man begged Mr. Roosevelt not to "lecture" the supreme court or to accept the Schechter decision as the end of NRA. Mr. Frankfurter urged that the president submit a stronger case to the court. Mr. Frankfurter also lost out in his earlier plea that the administration dodge a court decision as long as possible. Another rebuff is in the making. Whereas the professor thinks a nation can spend itself into prosperity, the Roosevelt-Morgenthau policy contemplates a reduction of federal expenditures—if and when possible.

SMASH

The GOP is beginning to feel the need of a political pathfinder like the late Frank Hitchcock.

Amout this time Mr. Hitchcock used to tie up with the most promising GOP presidential candidate. With $25,000 or $50,000 in his pocket he toured the country to discover how the key politicians felt about his man. If they responded coldly, he relayed that information to important headquarters and attached himself to a more likely prospect. By a process of elimination he and important GOP-ers knew long before nominating time how their various possibilities stood in popular esteem. Frank was a political John the Baptist.

There is nobody to extend "feelers" now. Perhaps the next best pioneers are ex-Senator George Moses of New Hampshire and C. Bascom Slemph of Virginia. It is understood that several candidates are willing to retain them for this kind of service. Unless the GOP can dig up somebody to canvass the field, and help to eliminate the impossibles or undesirable, the presidential hopefuls may stake a head-on smash at the convention next June. Mr. Hoover's friends foresee such a situation.

DEVELOPMENT

Hugh Johnson made one prediction—in which, modestly we may recall, this column preceded him—which seems to be coming true. In warning industrialists against sponsorship of company unions, he declared that they were creating a monster that would harass them. Now it develops that company unions number almost 2,000,000 employees. They are developing a class consciousness and beginning to feel their power. Some groups have held regional conferences with a view to organizing on an industrial rather than a factory scale. They may yet threaten the

A. F. of L. and reinforce the movement for industrial versus craft unions.

The answer to this strange twist is the labor relations act. Under that statute company unions obtain full protection against employer-domination, as well as against A. F. of L. inroads. They can stand on their own legal feet. And some are beginning to try out their legs. The development is not altogether displeasing to New Dealers, who aren't advertising it.

NOTES

The truck and bus division of ICC is running into snags in formulating regulations—lots of state and local rules to be mopped up. Wise guys say a plan has been found for new taxes in case processing taxes fade out. The next big struggle in court involves November 1....Utility-holding concerns are preparing to follow with an attack on the holding-company law...."Don't be alarmed by all this talk about us lawyers working for nothing," said a Liberty league adviser.

Dinner Observes 25th Anniversary

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer entertained with a dinner party recently at their home on West Chapman avenue in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Dutton on their 25th wedding anniversary. A white and silver theme was carried out in the table decoration of silver tapers and white flowers. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McKean, of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Phinney and their houseguest, Mrs. John Hall, of South Paris, Me., and Mr. and Mrs. Meyer. During an informal evening the honored couple was presented with gifts.

STATEMENT GIVEN ON CITRUS PICKERS' STRIKE SITUATION BY WORKERS' REPRESENTATIVE

Following a statement made in The Register several days ago by Stuart Strathman giving the orange packing houses' side of the question in the current battle between pickers and packing houses, in which a number of pickers are out on strike, The Register today prints the following statement signed by Lucas Lucio, spokesman for the pickers.

The statement is printed for the purpose of showing the pickers' argument in the controversy. Lucio's statement follows:

"Because of the statement made by Mr. Strathman, and in order that the public may be acquainted with the facts, it becomes necessary and proper for orange pickers to make a statement of their own in regard to the present situation.

"In the first place, the orange pickers are a skilled group and many of them have been working for 10 or 15 years or more at the business of picking oranges, and for the same packing houses.

"Some years ago a bonus scheme was inaugurated which has been opposed by the workers from the beginning. In a very indefinite way and without any written statement, the workers are told that a certain price per box will be paid for picking and that at the end of the season a bonus will be paid. The men are led to believe that this is a part of their pay and count on it from the beginning believing that they are saving that much that they will have at the end of the season.

Bonus Contention
"The associations, on the other hand, claim that this is a gift and wholly within their own discretion whether it is to be given or not, and then make their own regulations in regard to the workers' actions and as to whether they will pay this bonus. Various regulations have been made. If one does not appear on the job any particular day unless he first gets permission to leave, that is sufficient to deny the bonus; and in one case even though the worker presented a doctor's certificate that he was unfit to work on that day.

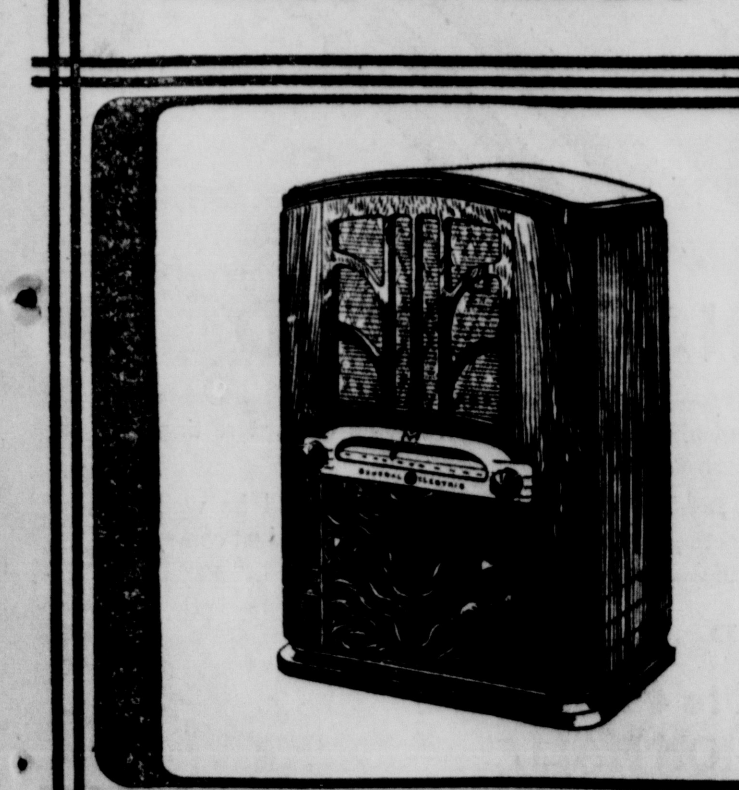

"If a man is discharged for any reason prior to the end of the season that is sufficient to deny him a bonus and that is wholly within the discretion of the employer, and as one manager remarked: 'We will fire any Mexican for any reason or for no reason as we please.'

"The workers have come to feel of them going by their own conveyances—and that about 50 of them met at the orchard and they had hardly alighted from their conveyances when the sheriff with 10 deputies appeared armed with a gas gun which was trained upon the workers and they understood the sheriff to say that they must go to work or be 'taken in' which they understood to be 'arrested'; they declined to work under intimidation.

Sheriff Called
"It was discovered later that the manager of the packing house who had requested the men to meet had informed the sheriff that they expected trouble and to be on the job. The sheriff receiving that call and not knowing what had happened naturally went prepared for emergencies. The men looked upon it as a trick and an effort to intimidate them and make them go to work—the result, of course, was the exact opposite and the men declined to work for that packing house.

"The meetings have been kept clear of outside workers by the influential and sane leaders amongst the workers. Any persuasion which has been practiced is by the workers themselves and there has been no actual so-called agitation.

"While the principal complaint of the workers has been in regard to the bonus, the matter of wages is not so rosy as Mr. Strathman would make out. At times, especially during the vacation, many of these workers have had memories of their own family working with them and not on the regular payroll and whatever these members did went to the benefit of the father who was on the payroll, and, of course, this swelled his pay check and increased the average wage. This practice was quite common.

"The wages that Mr. Strathman suggested at 22½ cents an hour was made by the Arbitration Board and made for vegetable workers who are not skilled as the orange pickers must be and such rate was never made for the orange picker and probably would not be accepted by him as a minimum wage.

"So far as we know there is only one association which is paying a minimum wage of $3.25, largely for the reason that the workers would not accept that wage.

Denies Statement
"It is not true that 'strikes have not originated in each individual growers' association but have been called by a limited group which has been active in all the strikes.' There is no general strike being called but the strikes have been called for each association by itself for grievances peculiar to that particular group. If the workers desire to organize amongst themselves to better their own conditions it is no more than the associations have done for they are thoroughly organized, and acknowledge the right of the workers to organize amongst themselves particularly for the American principal of collective bargaining.

"It is not true that men working in off-blooms at the price offered were making more than they would during the regular season. No doubt in some orchards the men could make good wages at the rate offered but it is equally true that in many of the orchards they could not make more than $1 a day.

"There is at present no general union of the orange pickers throughout the county, and consequently there are no officers of that union who appeared before the managers—those who did appear appeared from a humanitarian standpoint, for the interest that they have in justice to prevent actual injustice and intimidation. There were no local strikes by leaders of the workers in each Packing House Association until it was found that the packing house manager would discharge any one whom he thought was a leader or who presented a petition or otherwise made himself useful to the men themselves.

Impossible Situation
"That the situation as it exists at present between the workers and the managers of the Association cannot continue is recognized by the managers themselves. That the proper condition is that the men should have representatives of their own choosing, and these representatives should make agreements with the representatives of the packing houses or growers. That this agreement should be definite and in writing so that the men will know what the conditions are and in this way trouble can be prevented.

"No blame can be attached to the sheriff or his force so long as their object and method is to keep order but if it be an intimidation of the workers it is felt that the very trouble the peace officers hope to prevent will follow.

"Threats have been made by the packing house managers to bring in Filipinos, but it has been admitted later by some of them that they would have more trouble with Filipinos than Mexicans and that they didn't really mean to do that thing. The workers feel that they are a part of the orange growing industry and that their labor is not merely a commodity like bricks or stone."

TEACHER SAYS RICE SPLENDID ENERGY SOURCE

Bread has been called the staff of life since Biblical days, but in China rice is the real "staff of life." There, where the coolies work long days at the most arduous tasks, the employer of coolie labor obtains their services for practically nothing more than food and a place to sleep.

But for food, the employer is required, in many places by law, to supply each man with four pounds of rice daily. Four pounds a day! Think of the huge kettle full that would make, when cooked. But this rice, and very little else in the way of food, supplies the coolie with the energy to perform those astonishing feats of strength and endurance for which he is noted the world over.

Because Number ONE Brand China Rice is selected carefully for its quality from the finest rice fields near Canton, China, the cooked grains have that fluffy, appetizing appearance, and delectable flavor, that make one understand why rice has been a delicacy, as well as a staple in the diet, for rich and poor alike since the time of Confucius. And what a difference between Number ONE Brand China Rice, and the sticky mush that quite often makes its appearance on the American table under the name of rice!

Each kernel is separate from its fellows, tender yet dry, and with a delicate, characteristic flavor, that marks the aristocrat in foods. The method of cooking the rice is given on the package—cook it this simple, easy way, and serve it as a cereal in the morning with cream and sugar, or steaming hot with a good-sized lump of butter, and either brown or white sugar. The children will demand "seconds"—and you can be sure that at the same time they are getting the energy to carry them through a hard morning of play or school.

Miss Pauline Edwards, at the Register cooking school, says, "Number ONE Brand China Rice in some form should be included in the menu every day, for it is an economical source of the energy so necessary for health and vitality, and since it is not highly polished it is an excellent source of Vitamin B." Miss Edwards points out that recipes and ways of using Number ONE Brand China Rice are as endless as they are delightful, and that from "soup to nuts" it can be used in any number of pleasing dishes.

ECONOMIST TO AID BRIDES IN BUDGET PLANS

For the bride bothered by budgets and to whom cooking is a bugaboo—the Happy Kitchen programs which will be conducted by The Register for the next two days will prove most fascinating because she will present to them the modern "mode of managing."

"It is not at all necessary for the young housewife to do her housework as her mother did," avers Miss Pauline Edwards. "On the contrary, she should do it quite differently, considering how different are the needs of the modern home. Instead of fixing her mind on the process and system she was taught, she should think about the ends they serve. It is not, of course, necessary for her to make an extensive study of the difference in conditions nor to review the fact that the home is no longer an economic institution. She need only ask herself, 'Now, what does this home need to provide?'"

Having answered that, she should then decide how she, with the time, energy and money at her disposal can most easily provide them.

While Miss Edwards cannot, of course, answer these questions for each individual housekeeper, she will point out manners and means whereby those who feel that housekeeping does not offer their abilities sufficient scope may make it into a congenial job. She will show the inexperienced homemaker how to pioneer in developing new methods. She will put to complete rout the conservatives who hold to the idea that experiments along such lines indicate shiftlessness.

TODAY'S REGISTER COOKING SCHOOL RECIPES ARE LISTED

THURSDAY'S RECIPES

Deliciously Broiled Steak
A tender, juicy steak, preferably a 2-inch Cudahay's sirloin
Clove of garlic
Dry mustard
Salt
Pepper
McLenny's Tobacco Sauce.

Method:—Turn oven switch to broil and move adjustable panter on oven thermometer to extreme right of scale. Place broiler pan and wire rack in the oven close to the top unit and allow it to heat for 10 minutes. Remove broiler pan and rack and grease hot rack with piece of fat trimmed from meat. Lay meat on rack in the broiling pan and place close to the top unit. Sear the meat on one side, then turn and sear and brown on the other side. Turn and brown the first side. Broil according to the thickness of meat and individual taste. Have platter piping hot. Place chunk of butter on platter. As soon as meat broiled place on hot platter of melted butter, turn once, sprinkle lightly with tobacco, and serve hot with fresh fried potatoes.

French Fried Potatoes

Eight medium sized potatoes—to serve six.
Cold water
Crisco
Salt.
Method: Cut pared potatoes lengthwise into strips about one-half inch wide. Soak them in cold water. Drain thoroughly. Dry as much as possible. Place a few at a time in a wirebasket and plunge into deep Crisco heated to 355 degrees F., or hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 25 seconds. Fry until well browned and thoroughly soaked in center. (Test by removing one strip with fork.) Drain on unglazed paper. Salt just before serving.

Do not try to fry too many potatoes at one time. Keep hot in oven while frying remaining potatoes.

Kedgeree

1-2 cup of No. One Brand China rice
2 hard boiled eggs
1 tablespoon of chopped parsley
1 cup of flaked iris tuna
1 green onion
2 teaspoons of curry powder
Salt and pepper to taste
1 small can of mushroom soup.
Method: Steam rice according to directions on package. Chop egg, parsley and green onion fine, and add to fish and rice. Add curry powder, salt and pepper. Place in covered baking dish. Pour mushroom soup over top and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

Blush Apple Pie

3 large apples
3 slices of iris pineapple, cubed
1-4 cup of red cinnamon drops
1 teaspoon of grated lemon rind
1-2 cup of Holly sugar
2 tablespoons of flour
1-8 teaspoon of salt
2 tablespoons of Crisco.
Method: Peel and slice apples. Add pineapple, cinnamon drops and all dry ingredients. Mix well and let stand while preparing double crust if digestible Crisco pastry. Divide dough in two parts. Roll out lower crust. Line deep pie plate. Brush bottom with melted Crisco to prevent soaking. Fill with apple mixture. Dot over with Crisco. Roll out upper crust, slashing in several places to let out steam. Dampen edge of lower crust before crimping edge. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake about 25 minutes longer.

Single Pie Crust

11-2 cups of flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 cups of Crisco
4 to 6 tablespoons cold water.
Method: For flaky crust sift flour and salt. Chill Crisco, the digestible shortening. Cut in Crisco coarsely. Add enough ice water to hold together. Roll pastry one-eighth inch thick on slightly floured board. Cover pie plate and fit well into corners then flue edge of crust.

For double pie crust use:
2 cups of flour
1 teaspoon of salt
2-3 cup Crisco
6 to 8 tablespoons cold water.
Use same method for making as required for single crust.

Nest Eggs

1 cup grated cheese
6 eggs
6 slices Cudahay's bacon
6 slices Weber's bread.
Method: Sprinkle grated cheese on bread. Separate eggs and beat whites until stiff, then spread over cheese. Place egg yolks in cup formed by egg whites. Arrange bacon strips across top and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes.

Frozen Fruit Fantasy

2 cups of J. T. Raitt's pastry cream, whipped to custard consistency
1-2 cup of powdered sugar
1-4 teaspoon of salt
1 cup of iris crushed prunes
3-4 cup of iris crushed pineapple
1-4 cup of orange juice.

Method: Add powdered sugar and salt to whipped cream and fold in fruits. Pour into tray of Westinghouse Electric Refrigerator and let remain until firm.

White Fruit Cake

31-2 cups of sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons of K. C. baking powder

1 cup of Crisco
11-4 cups of Holly sugar
1 tablespoon of iris vanilla
1 tablespoon lemon extract
1 tablespoon pineapple extract
1-4 pound shelled almonds, blanched and sliced
1-2 pound glazed cherries
1-2 pound glazed pineapple
2 pieces of glazed lemon peel
1-4 pound of citron
1 pound of white raisins
1-2 cup of J. T. Raitt's milk.

Method: Sift flour and baking powder together three times. Cream Crisco and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add beaten egg yolks, then extracts. Sift a small amount of flour over fruit and nuts. Add flour and milk alternately to egg and sugar mixture, then fold in fruits and nuts. Last of all fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into loaf pans which have been greased and lined with greased paper, and bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for about three hours or until baked through. Cool and wrap in waxed or cellophane paper and store in a stone jar or in tin until ready to use.

Brownies

3-4 cup of cake flour
1-2 cup of Ghirardelli's ground chocolate
1-2 teaspoon of K. C. baking powder
1 cup of Holly sugar
1-2 cup of Crisco
2 eggs
1 teaspoon of vanilla
3-4 cup of chopped walnuts.

Method: Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cream Crisco and sugar and eggs, one at a time, beating well after adding each. Add vanilla, then dry ingredients and nuts. Pour into greased sheet pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 25 minutes. Cut in squares before removing from pan. (One additional egg and half cup of dates, seeded and finely cut, may be added to mixture, if desired. These are sometimes called chocolate Indians.)

Coming into manhood, Polynesian boys must go through a series of tests to prove their worth. The tests completed, their backs are tattooed with sharks' teeth. If so much as a muscle twitches during the extremely painful process, the boys are banished from the tribe.

DOUGHNUTS NO LONGER MERIT "SINKER" TERM

Remember — when doughnuts were always referred to as "sinkers"? That day is done—and gone is the unfortunate doughnut that was fried in heavy, greasy fat. Thank goodness. No more does the good, old American stand-by have to be spoken of so disparagingly—so heat up your trusty frying pan—and don't cheat your table of delicious, deep-fried foods because you are afraid they are soggy and "indigestible." The secret is—use Crisco.

Before Crisco's day, the saying was "You're ready to fry when the fat smokes." But today, cooking authorities warn you against fats that smoke easily—they are actually burning and decomposing. By using Crisco, you will find that this digestible fat does not smoke even at 400 degrees F. That's because Crisco heats hotter—and cooks the surface instantly. That's why foods deep fried in Crisco are crispy and digestible.

Too, Crisco is economical because it can be strained back into its can to be ready for many other deep-fryings.

"When you have once tried this pure, vegetable shortening," Miss Pauline Edwards, noted cooking authority who is at the Register cooking school today and tomorrow, says, "Even your eyes will tell you that fried foods are digestible, and you can see why I, personally, am so partial to Crisco."

ELECTRICITY IS INVALUABLE AID TO NEW COOKING

Suggestions to brighten their kitchens for a whole year were received today by Santa Ana women gathered at the American Legion Hall, where the second session of the all-electric cooking school was held. New recipes, novel menus and free prizes made the afternoon a memorable one.

Splendid instruction in culinary craftsmanship was offered by Miss Pauline Edwards, charming home service director. She made a practical approach to many house-keeping problems and suggested many new methods of getting work done more quickly and easily.

"With the perfection of many modern electrical appliances, managing a home is becoming more and more simplified," she stated. "There was a time when many women felt sorry for themselves because they had no servants. The modern does not need extra help because electrical devices have relieved her of much tedious labor."

"Electric cookery has brought to many women a new conception of cooking, attaining a simplicity, economy and speed they did not believe possible. Electric cookery, which means the use of an electric range, refrigerator, water heater, mixer and many other electrical work-savers, attains its highest excellence when all of these devices

WAY TO MAN'S HEART IS SHOWN IN RECIPES FOR SUCCULENT PIES

There are pies—and pies. Perhaps your husband just dotes on pie—but you haven't been able to master the way to make a crust that is crisp and flaky and digestible. There is one, sure way, Mrs. Housewife, to accomplish delicious, satisfying results—and that is by using Crisco, for Crisco pastry doesn't over-tax the poor, hard-worked stomach. Being made of a pure, sweet, vegetable fat—Crisco digests quicker.

Now—which kind of pie-crust do you prefer? Crumbly and tender? Or crisp and flaky? Both kinds are digestible made with Crisco. The following recipes for either kind will delight you with the ease with which they may be whisked up—and they will bring joy to your husband's heart.

Single Crust: 1-2 cups flour, 1-3 are used. However, the addition of any of these to a housewife's kitchen equipment will enable her to enjoy to a large degree the many pleasures of cooking electrically.

Today's demonstrations showed that electric cooking produces delicious well-balanced meals with a minimum expenditure of time, effort and money. The same results can be duplicated every time, dependable character of electric heat always bringing the same success.

EUROPEAN WORLD FAVORS TOBASCO

A difference in opinion as to the subtle flavoring of foods has been known to precipitate harsh words, and provoke that "incompatibility of temperament" so disastrous to domestic tranquility.

There is, however, an almost universal and unanimous decision in favor of McIlhenny's Tabasco, according to the users of this pungent sauce, who claim it deserves the long-term devotion its many friends have accorded it.

Miss Pauline Edwards, at the Register cooking school, has used this delightful flavoring in many new and delicious recipes, to the great interest of her audience, many of whom are already old friends, while others were glad indeed to become acquainted with this snappy sauce.

IRIS FIRM PACKS DELICIOUS FRUITS

Delicious fruits of every kind, picked at the peak of perfect ripeness, and canned in rich sugar syrup; the best of fresh vegetables chosen from the finest gardens; and appetizing seafoods canned fresh from ocean waters—these are the factors which make IRIS brand foods so high in quality and so popular among housewives.

Added to this is the fact that IRIS fine foods cost scarcely any more than do those of inferior quality. This means that the price factor should not be a bar to any family's enjoying the excellence of IRIS products.

For well over a quarter of a century IRIS products have maintained a reputation for high quality. This assurance of the uniform excellence of these fine foods means much both to the housewife who prepares the meals, and those who consume them.

And the wide variety obtainable in the IRIS line—more than 200 canned fruits, vegetables and seafoods to select from—lightens the task of providing one's family with an almost unlimited choice of appetizing dishes for every purpose.

Harwood's Award Women Credits At Big Cook School

Ten fortunate women each day are being awarded valuable certificates from Harwood's, Westinghouse dealers here, at the big Register all-electric cooking school which will close after the session tomorrow afternoon in the Legion hall.

These awards are made at drawings held at the cooking school and are in addition to the regular prizes made each day of the school. The certificates entitle the women who win to 10 per cent credit on any Westinghouse electrical appliance at Harwood's, providing the purchase is made before November 30.

Harwood's are furnishing all of the modern electrical appliances which are being used by Miss Pauline Edwards, noted home economist, at the school sessions.

Church Program Set for Nov. 14

WINTERSBURG, Nov. 7.—The first fall church night program will be held at the Wintersburg Methodist church the evening of November 14. The program originally was slated for this evening.

The evening is designated as community night. On the program will be John Peterson, superintendent of local schools; Miss Dorothy Wents, county librarian, and Mrs. George Harding, P. T. A. president. A member of the local church will represent that organization in a talk.

THE MAN he left BEHIND

When she started making light, digestible Crisco pies, cakes and fried foods

HER HUSBAND... "thin and irritable" ... then Crisco turned the trick

My husband is a nervous, hard-pressed man, and he suffered from indigestion. It was worse after eating fried foods. What were we to do?

He was growing thin and irritable, and fast assuming the disposition of a dyspeptic. In desperation, I suggested Crisco for frying his food. He looked up his merits and we decided to try it. It turned the trick, needless to say!

Now, when he comes home late and dog-tired, he says, "Mama, how about a little snack before we go to bed?" He almost always wants a fried concoction that you'd think would try the digestion of a billy goat. And you should see him now. He looks almost like the answer to a maiden's prayer, especially my prayer, thanks to Crisco.

Yours very truly, MRS. L. C. KNIGHT (Original letter on file)

At the Register Cooking School this week, Miss Pauline Edwards uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern, quick-digesting shortening.

"Don't Depend on Nature for Refrigeration this Winter"

It's as Unreliable as a Sundial

Sundials are nice decorations but they do not tell accurate time and are utterly worthless on cloudy days. Nature furnishes only 19 days each year when temperatures are in the "safety zone" 32 to 50 degrees, that prevents food from spoiling. Natural refrigeration is unreliable.

END FOOD LOSSES AND INCONVENIENCE WITH A

Westinghouse Streamline REFRIGERATOR

Miss Pauline Edwards, Happy Kitchen Economist, says that you can save money every month of the year with a Westinghouse in your kitchen. It furnishes even temperatures that you need for food preservation. Actual food budgets of Orange county Westinghouse owners will show this to be true. Rising food prices make this saving more than ever necessary.

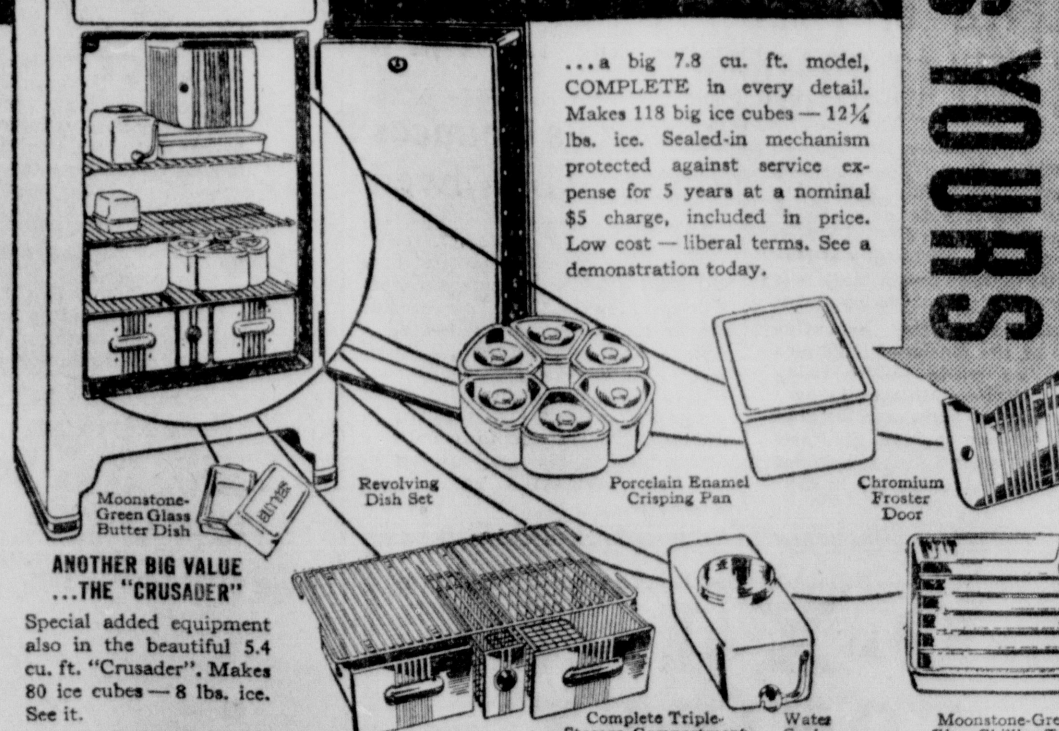

You will be surprised to find how easy it is to own a Westinghouse Streamline Refrigerator. Don't feel that you cannot afford to purchase one now as the winter months are at hand.

We can show you how you can own a Westinghouse and save enough to buy a new dress every month in the year—Winter or Summer.

BRUISING BRUIN BABES RIVAL TROJAN FRESHMAN CROP

Curiosity killed a cat; but never did it kill a football fanatic. Much was the bulging of eyes when the freshmen of University of Southern California came here to last month. The Men of Troy were large, hefty and lustful. What they did to the Dons is better forgotten.

Tomorrow night, home again after two weeks of globe-trotting, the Don run another round of the "All-American" these regiments from the University of California at Los Angeles—U. C. L. A. to you.

Football buds that bloom in September usually fade by November. But the 1935 edition of Bruin freshmen teams reversed this procedure. Opening against Riverside Junior college, the Westwood fledglings were cuffed about in a manner that was surprising as it was scandalous, losing 25-7. Since then the Bruin Babes have twinkled as advertised, conquering all comers by margins decisive enough to indicate U. C. L. A. fared little worse in off-season operations than U. S. C. Pasadena, Bakersfield, Loyola and other opponents have felt the lash from two to six touchdowns.

The most colorful members of the squad, which is coached by Harry Trotter and Mike Frankovich, are Tackle "Slats" Wyrick and Halfback Harold Hirschon. Wyrick entered U. C. L. A. from Oklahoma City where he was all-state star. He is 6'4" and weighs 230. Hirschon is a product of Manual Arts, Los Angeles. According to Coach Frankovich, he is the best running back ever to play on a Bruin eleven, "Chuck" Cheshire included. Hirschon is as hard to stop as the tricky Cheshire and the quick start and abundance of power suggestive of Bobby Grayson.

SAINTS FAVORED IN 'BIG GAME'

200-Pound Heavies Head Boxing Card

FOOTE STARTS ELEVEN THAT UPSET MOORS

For the first time since their championship year of '32, Santa Ana's Saints tomorrow go into their annual "Big Game" at Fullerton heavily favored to win.

While past performances never have meant anything in the 18-year rivalry between the two Orange county high schools, their records are so divergent as to give Santa Ana a decisive advantage in pre-game reckoning this term.

Boasting its best club since Coach Bill Foote succeeded "Tex" Oliver, Santa Ana comes up to the Fullerton skirmish with four victories against two defeats after meeting the toughest prep teams in Southern California. Fullerton, on the other hand, is in the throes of its poorest season under Coach Don Cruikshank, who brought the Reds out of the doldrums in '31. The upcountry Indians have started six times, losing five and tying the other.

The records:

SANTA ANA

Coach Foote today decided to stand pat with the Saint lineup that produced a 12-7 victory over the Reds here last Saturday. This means Minoru Nitta will be at fullback instead of Bill Musick, who is still favoring a bruised left leg. Musick will not even be in suit at Fullerton, as Foote wants his sophomore plunger in tiptop condition for the San Diego struggle here next Saturday.

Nitta's backfield partners will be Mac Beall, quarter; Carroll Joy, left half, and "Whitney" Mann, right half. Capt. Joy and Short start on the ends, Reid and Crowther at tackle, Garrett and Crawford at guard and Robinson at center. Most of these boys saw action last year when Santa Ana unexpectedly defeated a heavily favored Fullerton eleven, 12-0, thanks to a 95-yard return of a punt by Waldo Smith. Fullerton, however, must depend on an inexperienced lineup with Maxwell and Hodgson, both ends, the only lettermen on the team.

Game-time is at 2:45.

The lineups:

FOWLER SLATED FOR U. C. STARTING ROLE

BERKELEY, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Judgment day drew nearer today for California's undefeated Golden Bears.

Before tonight, Jimmy Phelan and 33 Washington Huskies will have arrived in Oakland, whence they will remain until Saturday when they race to the turf of Memorial stadium in an effort to check California's championship and Rose Bowl title.

The Huskies stopped California last year. Whether they can do it again Saturday appeared today to hinge on two factors. The first is whether California's line, which has built up the best defensive record of any undefeated-untied team in the nation, can stop Washington's equally brilliant backfield.

Improved Oilers Out To Check Champions

Greatly improved since early season routs by Brea-Olinda and Orange, the robust Huntington Beach Oilers go into Anaheim tomorrow hoping to provide the biggest upset of the Orange County league football season.

Coach Harry Shue's invaders are the only team in the conference that can stack up against the champions in size. The Huntington Beach line is almost as sizable as Anaheim's and the Oilers back up little by comparison. Anaheim, of course, will be heavily favored but the Oilers are out to score a tremendous upset. They've been pointing for the engagement all season.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Princeton is a 4-1 favorite over Football's traffic light at this week's dangerous crossroads for the nation's eleven remaining all-triumphant teams is green for the Eastern and Southern eleven and red for the Midwest and Far West survivors.

Only two of the seven teams left in the perfect class in the East, South and Southwest have tough foes in their next games. The entire group—New York U. Dartmouth, Princeton and Syracuse in the east, North Carolina in the south and Texas Christian and Southern Methodist in the southwest—may make the crossing.

Syracuse, which meets Columbia at New York, and Southern Methodist, which battles U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles, apparently will have the most trouble getting across before the light changes. The S. M. U.-U. C. L. A. game will be played Armistice Day instead of Saturday.

The others appear to have soft touches and should come through. New York U. has perhaps the easiest pushover in C. C. N. Y., crushed last week by Manhattan, 6-50. Dartmouth should take William and Mary under wraps.

Simmons Rated Best Back In Mid-West

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The best ball-carrier in the middle west so far this fall is Oze Simmons, Negro fullback of the University of Iowa.

The 20-year-old elusive Texan has been the most important factor in maintaining Iowa's undefeated record and few players in the country have equaled his long distance runs for scores.

His most outstanding accomplishment: Against Illinois—Ran 71 yards for a touchdown to break a 0 to 0 deadlock. Gained 192 yards from scrimmage.

Against Colgate—Ran 63 yards for a touchdown after taking a lateral from Bush Lamb. Plunged over for the second and winning touchdown. Gained 120 yards from scrimmage.

Against Indiana—Ran 59 yards for a touchdown on a rain soaked field to enable his team to finish with a 6 to 6 tie. Gained 119 yards from scrimmage.

Against South Dakota—Ran 71

KNIFE SCAR IN BACK IS CRUX IN 'KEY CASE'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Athletic authorities of U.C.L.A. today sought the erstwhile star fullback of the Bruin football team in the belief he may be wearing a clue to his challenged identity on his back.

They were informed that Clois ("Shorty") Key, who played out his eligible years with Texas School of Mines, has scars on his back as a memento of a knife wound he received in Texas.

The fullback, known as "R. F. (Ted) Key," a brother of Clois, was ruled ineligible just before the California game last Saturday pending investigation of rumors he is not Ted but Clois.

Should scars be found on "Ted's" back, it was reasoned, the chances are that "Ted" actually is Clois.

The player was sought in vain in his usual campus haunts, where he has not been seen since Monday.

A disturbing note among the Bruin collegians was the statement of Bill Spaulding Jr., son of the coach, that he had seen a scar on the back of "R. F. (Ted)" when they were both students at Urban academy.

Key at that time remarked he got the scar "in a knife fight in Texas," young Spaulding said.

Meanwhile Earl J. Miller, dean of men at U.C.L.A., was in Amarillo, Tex., where R. F. (Ted) was supposed to have gone to high school, gathering more contradictory testimony concerning R. F. (Ted) Key, his four brothers and a job lot of cousins, to add to the already puzzling store.

Authorities here withheld comment other than saying that in any event, the fullback will not be in the Bruin lineup Monday when U.C.L.A. plays Southern Methodist university here.

LEHNHARDT TO FULL IN COLLEGE LINEUP

Having passed the climax in this week's practice session, Coach Bill Cook's Dons today were taking it easy and awaiting tomorrow night's zero hour when they engage one of the strongest U. C. L. A. freshmen teams in years at the Municipal Bowl.

Like a jig-saw puzzle, the jay-see backfield may be somewhat jumbled tomorrow night. Drill earlier in the week showed that Cook contemplates using John Lehnhardt, regular right half, at fullback. Lehnhardt, who has not carried the ball this season, gives promise of being a first-class line plunger and may prove a surprise to the Westwood Cubs.

Packing the leather is not entirely new to him as he often carried the hod for Coach John Ward at Garden Grove high school.

Another man Cook would like to give a shot at the fullback position is Alvin Lamb. With short, powerful legs and weighing close to 170, Lamb is a hard-driving type of runner. He also is useful in other departments of play, being an excellent passer-receiver and blocker.

Oliver McCarter, elusive quarterback who just returned to practice Tuesday following recovery from a stiff neck received in the San Bernardino game, was again missing from the Bowl yesterday as result of a twisted ankle sustained the day before.

Nelson Rogers, tackle, and Bill Greshner, end, who have been out because of the flu, returned to practice although Walt Hendrie, another victim, has not yet returned.

Alustiza's Chances 'Better Than Even'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Doctors at Stanford hospital here had good news for Stanford's football team, for the U. C. L. A. bruins and grid fans in general today.

They revealed that Frank Alustiza, Stanford quarterback, has "better than an even chance" of recovering normal vision following a delicate operation to correct a torn retina in his eye, injured in the Stanford-U.C.L.A. game three weeks ago.

Santa Ana Has 9-4 Edge In 'Big Game'

Santa Ana and Fullerton play their sixteenth "Big Game" when they tangle in Fullerton's big stadium at 2:45 p. m. Friday.

The Saints have won nine times since the two largest Orange county high schools launched their rivalry in the fall of 1917, with Stewart "Shorty" Smith as head coach in Santa Ana and L. O. Culp handling the Indians. Smith moved to Fullerton the next year and in 1919 led the Reds to a smashing victory over his former disciples.

Arch and John Hawkins were Fullerton's big guns in that one-sided conflict.

Against Santa Ana's nine victories—and it may become ten tomorrow—Fullerton holds four wins. Two games ended in ties. The statistics:

1917—Santa Ana 10, Fullerton 0.
1918—Santa Ana 0, Fullerton 41.
1920—Santa Ana 7, Fullerton 7.
1921—Santa Ana 0, Fullerton 10.
1921—Santa Ana 7, Fullerton 0.
1922—Santa Ana 0, Fullerton 0.
1923—Santa Ana 7, Fullerton 0.
1923—Santa Ana 13, Fullerton 6.
1924—Santa Ana 6, Fullerton 13.
1926—Santa Ana 21, Fullerton 13.
1930—Santa Ana 59, Fullerton 19.
1931—Santa Ana 32, Fullerton 0.
1932—Santa Ana 14, Fullerton 0.
1933—Santa Ana 6, Fullerton 9.
1934—Santa Ana 12, Fullerton 0.

CALIFORNIA DENIES ANGLING WITH IRISH

BERKELEY, Nov. 7.—(UP)—W. Monahan, University of California graduate manager, today denied reports that California and Notre Dame are anticipating a home-and-home football pact to supplant the present series between the Irish and U.S.C.'s Trojans.

"There is absolutely no basis for the report," Monahan said.

"When Knute Rockne was living both schools were contemplating such a move," he explained, "but since his death, nothing more has been said about the matter."

LAYTON WINS FROM MATSUYAMA, 50-35

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Johnny Layton, red-headed carpenter from Sedalia, Mo., started a successful defense of his world's three-cushion billiard title last night by defeating Kinrey Matsuyama of Japan, 50 to 35 in 50 innings after two hours and 15 minutes of play.

Other contestants start play in the two weeks tournament this afternoon.

In meeting Swanson, Martinez is going up against a fighter who traveled four rounds with Joe Louis when the latter was blazing through the amateur ranks. Since coming to the coast, Swanson has been able to dig up, including Floyd Finley, Ralph Marke, Wild Bill Boyd, Ralph Holquist, Jack Simmons and Sid Barnes.

"BANDITS" ARE ON PROGRAM AT EARLIER HOUR

The first of the early evening presentations of "Black and White: The Masked Bandits of the Rio," will be made at 6 o'clock tonight on KREG under the sponsorship of Page Motor Sales in Santa Ana.

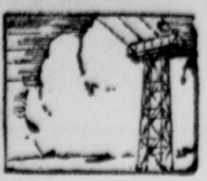

This novel duo which actually wear masks to conceal their identity, are scoring a distinct hit with their harmony duets and solos and their generous response to requests. They are now scheduled Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays at 11:30 in the morning and on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 6 in the evening.

Joe Erwin, who conducts their programs, has received telephoned requests for "Black and White" from many places in Orange county and from remote communities outside the county.

MEMBERS OF CITIZENSHIP CLASS TO BROADCAST FROM KREG IN FIVE LANGUAGES

Setting up a new standard of adult education broadcasts by taking full advantage of broadcast technique to create a maximum of interest, the Adult Education Department of the Santa Ana City Schools, in cooperation with KREG, will present one of the most interesting and novel broadcasts this evening at 5:30 when members of the citizenship class, under the direction of Miss Nell Hunt, will speak briefly in 5 different languages.

KREG NOTES

A 15-minute program of Hawaiian melodies will be broadcast from KREG tonight at 8 o'clock, presenting the music of foremost Hawaiian orchestras.

Harrison E. White, president of the county conference of social workers, will be the speaker on the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association broadcast to be made from KREG tomorrow at 12:05 p. m.

Five students, French, German, Italian, Canadian and Bohemian, who aspire to citizenship in the United States, will greet their former fellow countrymen impersonally in their respective languages and will then give the English interpretations of their brief talks.

Miss Hunt will outline the course for all aliens and will explain how they are prepared for citizenship. This will be the first of two such broadcasts, the second one to be made next week at the same time.

The adult education broadcasts from KREG now include public speaking, studies of musical instruments and of music, Americanization and another subject to be announced Monday. All are scheduled at the same hour on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. The Adult Education Department, and W. W. Wieman, principal of the Lathrop Evening High School.

RADIO FEATURES

Rose Hampton, noted contralto of concert and opera, will be the guest soloist of the Atwater Kent program with William Daly's orchestra during the broadcast over KHFJ at 8:30 this evening.

When the Show Boat ties up to the dock in a mythical stop at St. Louis tonight, Lanny Ross, Virginia Lee and the rest of the cast will present a condensed version of Oscar Strauss' popular opera, "The Chocolate Soldier." The broadcast will be heard over KFI at 8 o'clock.

The scientific horrors which another world war might loose upon the world will be discussed by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, America's foremost physicist and president of the California Institute of Technology, when he speaks on "To Arms for Peace," the Squibb-World Peaceways program to be broadcast over KHFJ at 8:30 tonight. Lotte Lehman, famous opera soprano, will sing on the program.

In honor of Helen Japson's farewell appearance on the Music Hall before departing for Hollywood, Paul Whiteman has assembled an impressive list of guest stars including Frederick Jagel, Metropolitan Opera Star; Bob Burns, comedian; Art Tatum, famous blind pianist, and the Pickens Sisters, for the Music Hall program over KFI at 7 tonight.

The Carnival Overture, one of three overtures written by Dvorak as musical symbols of life in general, will be played by the Stanford Symphony orchestra during another program of classical gems under the direction of Dr. Alfred Hertz over KFI at 8:15 tonight.

A smooth program of sophisticated dance rhythms will be supplied by Richard Himber and his Champions over KHFJ at 9 tonight.

With "Betty Good" garbed in the Cardinal and Gold colors of the University of Southern California, tonight's edition of "Mobil Magazine," broadcast over KHFJ at 9 o'clock, will dedicate its cover and sport pages to the Trojan football eleven, faculty and student body. The pre-game statements of Coach Howard Jones of U. S. C. and Coach "Tiny" Thornhill of Stanford will be quoted as an appropriate preview to Saturday's game at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum between the rival institutions.

FRIDAY

Dr. Walter Damrosch, music counsel of the National Broadcasting company, will present the third concert of the C and D series during the NBC Music Appreciation Hour over KFI at 8 a. m. Friday.

When the National Cornhusking Contest gets under way on the Leslie Mitchell Farm near Newton, Fountain county, Indiana, on Friday, Hal Totten, veteran NBC sports announcer, and Everett Mitchell, NBC chief of announcers in Chicago, will collaborate in describing the "Battle of the Bananas" which last year attracted a throng of 70,000 persons to the contest field near Fairmont, Minnesota. During the National Farm and Home Hour at 9:30 a. m. over KECA and KPO a feature of the broadcast will be a brief talk by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who originated cornhusking contests in Iowa in 1924.

The third in the series of vocational guidance programs broadcast by the "American School of the Air" over KHFJ at 11:30 a. m. Friday, through a dramatization students will learn "Where to Look for Information About Occupations."

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers and Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, will be interviewed regarding the economic aspects of the Guiffey coal bill by Spencer Miller, Jr., director of the Workers' Education Bureau, on the KHFJ program, "Labor Speaks," at 3:45 p. m. Friday.

"LET ME TELL YOU SOMETHING ABOUT 'MAKIN'S' CIGARETTES" SAYS JESSE BUSH

I'VE BEEN ROLLIN' MY OWN WITH PRINCE ALBERT FOR 12 YEARS, SO LISTEN—

I feel so pleased with Prince Albert for all the enjoyment it has given me that I want others to know that Prince Albert rolls easy, rolls right, and smokes better. Prince Albert stays put. It burns slowly—much cooler. It's mild, yet has real two-fisted flavor, too. I'm 'sold' on the big red tin that holds enough tobacco for 70 cigarettes. So my advice is just to try this Prince Albert proposition if you'd like to hook into something rare.

"You're right," say men of SANTA ANA

And now to bring home to every smoker how good P. A. is for rolling and so help to make it unanimous, we are making a sweeping special offer. It's a real you-must-be-pleased plan. Read the details below. Decide to try P. A. for your "makin's" smoking.

What to Expect

Jiffy-quick rolling... beautifully firm cigarettes... marvelous taste and fragrance... that's what you can expect when you start rolling P. A.

You'll be delighted to find you're rolling the smoothest cigarettes you ever made. Men everywhere are praising Prince Albert. Ernest Hill says: "I'm a Prince Albert roll-my-own smoker from 'way back. P. A.'s easy to roll and it stays rolled right." Joe McMacken says: "There's a rich flavor to cigarettes rolled from Prince Albert that just fits my taste." And we are confident you'll feel the same way, once you start rolling 'em with Prince Albert.

Stays Put—Doesn't Blow All Over the Lot!

In rolling Prince Albert you will note the special "crimp cut" that makes Prince Albert lie right in the paper—and assures you a fine, firm, easy-to-roll cigarette. And, thanks again to the "crimp cut," Prince Albert burns slower and gives a cooler smoke.

May we add that P. A. comes in a big 2-ounce economy tin. So just step up and ask for Prince Albert, and shake hands with smokin' at its best! P. A.'s the real joy smoke in a pipe too.

AN OFFER THAT SHOWS WE MEAN BUSINESS

Roll yourself 30 swell cigarettes from Prince Albert. If you don't find them the finest, tastiest roll-your-own cigarettes you ever smoked, return the tin with the rest of the tobacco in it, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

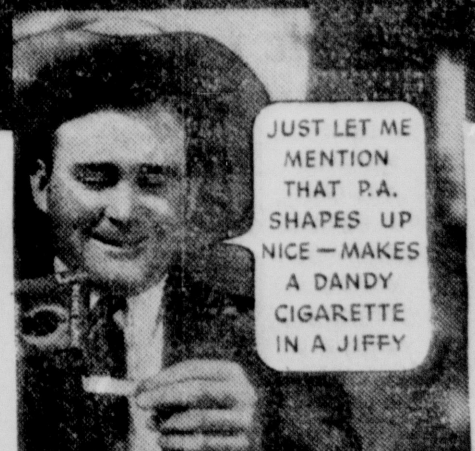

5 REASONS WHY PRINCE ALBERT CAN MAKE THIS MONEY-BACK OFFER:

1. Choicest, top-quality tobacco is used in Prince Albert.
2. Prince Albert is "crimp cut" for easy rolling and slow, cool burning.
3. Mild, mellow flavor assured by special "inter-moving" process.
4. Packed right—in tin, no better—no waste, tobacco keeps in prime condition.
5. Two ounces in every tin.

"You Must Be Pleased"

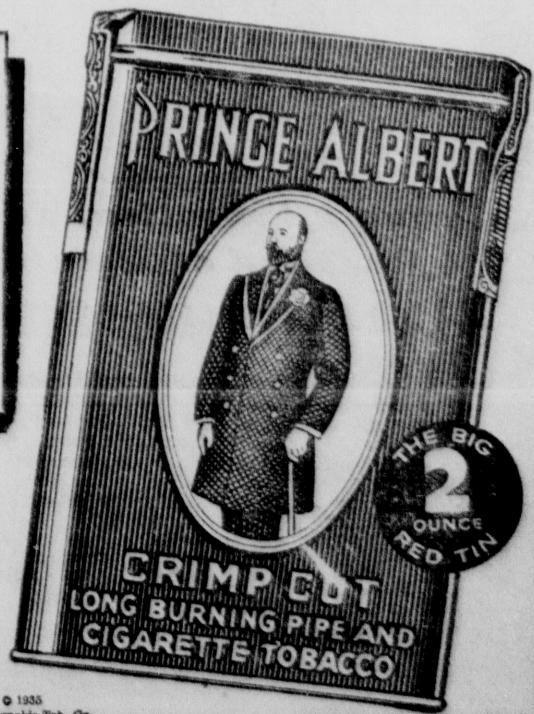

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-ounce tin of Prince Albert

THE EASY-TO-ROLL JOY SMOKE

Ernest Hill, who rolls a neat, firm smoke in 7.5 seconds, and never tires of Prince Albert's flavor

Here is a "cut," made from our picture of Joe McMacken (11 seconds) showing him in action!

MURPHY GIVES INSTANCES TO SHOW WHY STATE INCOME TAX SHOULD BE REPEALED

(Editor's Note—Mr. Murphy is a business man and a manufacturer with his business headquarters at Chicago. He has lived in Pasadena for some years and was chairman of the Citizens' committee which was appointed in the interest of Whittier State school and is a very public-spirited man.)

By ELMER R. MURPHEY

Henry May Garland, "A wise old Owl" regarding California, once said: "The list of exports and imports from our port is impressive, but the greatest import we enjoy in California is the wealthy Easterner who brings his money to spend in California."

Florida has recognized this too—but there is no one who can figure so close as to unnecessary expenditures as these same rich men who start with a shoe string and build up a fortune.

Once Judge Gary, then president of the Steel company, and a wise and gentle old man told this one on Charles Schwab.

Schwab was dressing in his private car. That day he had given a $600,000 check to his home town, Loretta, Penn. Gary came in. Both Schwab and his valet were on their knees looking under the chairs. "What's up?" asked Gary. The Negro valet, with a sense of humor said, "Mister Schwab bin givin' away a big church today, but he's got only one collar button in the world and we can't find it."

I've seen dear old Mrs. Deering, wife of the wealthy harvest king, shopping in Evanston. If radishes were one cent a bunch cheap, she would travel over and save that cent. Yet she left a million to Northwestern university.

So these rich people aren't stingy, they are thrifty, and they aren't anchored in California and you can't soak them without hurting California worse.

Specific Cases

And don't think this is remote and don't affect you. Just yesterday three things came to me. William S. Mason, a respected winter resident, has decided to retain his residence in Illinois. He loves California and has assisted with his money and optimism in building it up and attracting Easterners residents.

William Kidston, retired Board of Trade man, with a home in Palm Springs as well as Pasadena, Bill says "I may as well play golf a bit later at Glenview, and cut my California to 5 3/4 months."

Carl D. Greene, retired insurance man, said "We will adjust our plans: a month longer at our summer house at Marinette, a bit of golf around Chicago, and less than six months in California."

Imagine how many like instances are in process. These men don't talk, they don't seriously care. We haven't an exclusive feature in climate and attractions. The merchants who sold them thousands of dollars of supplies, the labor employed because of their residence will miss them. And meantime the Los Angeles chamber of commerce a huge sum of money to attract residents. And in Pasadena, the Rose Parade, the greatest advertising scheme ever produced by a loyal and enthusiastic citizenry, will talk to people who will not listen when they ascertain it will cost them a huge tax if they spend more than six months here. Isn't it silly?

The tax collected will be small in proportion to the amount which would be spent by these departing citizens. "The law of diminishing returns."

For the good of California it should be repealed.

SERMON TOPIC LISTED

WINTERSBURG, Nov. 7.—The Rev. Joseph Thompson, pastor of the Wintersburg Community church will speak Sunday morning on "The Power to Choose."

"The Personality of Jesus" will be the topic for the young people's forum group that evening, the service concluding with a discussion on the topic, "Why There Should Be No War."

Army Officer To Speak at Church Service Friday

A unique Armistice Day service will be held in the Santa Ana Foursquare church Friday night when Lt. D. G. Buchheim, United States army officer in the World war, will tell of his experiences overseas and will bring many trophies of the battlefield to illustrate his message. Lt. Buchheim will show the different instruments of warfare and various size shells and draw the Christian application from them, according to the announcement.

Lieutenant Buchheim served with the Fortieth division and was commissioned and sent to the 32nd division. He extends a special invitation to all ex-service men and their families to join in this service.

The Foursquare young men's quartet will sing "Tenting Tonight."

P.-T. A. TO HOLD HOLIDAY AFFAIR

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 7.—The December meeting of the Westminster Parent-Teacher Association will be in the nature of a Christmas affair, according to announcement made at this week's meeting, the date to be changed from the usual first Monday of the month to December 20, which is the closing day for school for the holiday vacation.

Mrs. Florence Holmes told of the work done with the returns from the Christmas seals and how it helps the county. Dr. R. D. Temple, of Cypress, spoke on "The Healthy Tooth," and Dr. Russell L. Johnson, local physician, took as his subject "Immunization."

On the program were tap dances by two young artists from Huntington Beach, Bonnie Loy and Aural Olson. Miss MaryLou Hare presented as a piano solo number, "Romance," and a group of five grade mothers, Mrs. May Finley, Mrs. Esther Grandy, Mrs. Margaret Prindle, Mrs. Lucille Wise and Mrs. Hazel Bebermeyer presented chorus numbers.

Mrs. May Finley, vice president of the P.-T. A. presided.

Broadway Calls

Broadway producers are determined to entice Leo Carrillo to New York during the coming season. Leading roles in "The Life of Robert Burns," "Silhouette," and "One Day Out" were offered him this week, the first because of his excellent Scotch accent.

Whether Leo will accept any of these depends on his screen work. Hollywood constantly demands his services.

—how do you do that?

Well, to start with, we take tobacco from our own Southland—mild ripe tobacco with lots of natural flavor but no harshness or bitterness.

THEN AS A SECOND STEP—

We blend this home-grown tobacco with spicy, aromatic Turkish tobaccos from across the seas. These Turkish tobaccos, you may know, have a flavor and fragrance entirely different from our own.

AS A THIRD STEP—

These tobaccos are cross-blended—welded together—the best way we've found to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette.

TIBBALS TALK PLAYERS NAME IS WINNER AT PLAY-READING TOASTMASTERS COMMITTEEMEN

"Religious Freedom" was the subject of the talk given by D. H. Tibbals which won first place in the speaking contest held by Smedley Chapter of Toastmasters International at their meeting last evening at James' Cafe.

In his talk, Tibbals discussed the differences between nations founded on religious freedom and those founded on a desire to acquire gold and other precious minerals.

Dwight Hamilton won second place in the contest which is a feature of each meeting of the speaking organization, with his talk on "Armistice Day Parade."

"The Touch of the Master's Hand" was the subject of the talk given by Herbert Thomas in which he discussed Christian leadership and character.

J. Lee Hewitt gave an impromptu speech, calling attention to the need of a better appreciation of the value of high ideals in conduct and personal relations.

Taxes, tax rates and the make-up of a tax bill were the subjects covered by R. Carson Smith in an interesting talk on "Questions asked at this time of the year."

James N. Anderson held the attention of the club with his telling of a bear story, which happened last summer in the High Sierras.

Henry Bosch acted as Toastmaster of the evening with Eugene Kruger as General Critic. J. Henry Schwanborn was accepted into the club as a new member and Ira Kroese, Robert Korff, Eric Twist and Ernest Byrne were visitors to the club.

Plans for the presentation of the Santa Ana Community Players next dramatic venture were undertaken today, with the appointment of a play-reading committee to select the vehicle, at a meeting of the players board of governors, in the offices of W. H. Spurgeon.

Mrs. Gertrude Horn will head the committee as chairman, to be assisted by Mrs. Mona Summers Smith, Mrs. Mary Clonoff Swarthout, Robert Guild, and Mrs. Gladys Shafer, as ex-officio member.

The group plans a meeting in the near future to discuss possibilities for the next presentation, which it is hoped will be gotten under way before the end of the month.

The board of governors yesterday approved bills against the latest play of the group, "The Belamy Trial," and announced that the venture, which played to packed houses for five nights in the courthouse, was a complete financial success.

A discussion was held of the One-Act Tournament, held annually in Santa Ana. The board of directors for the tournament will be announced at the next meeting of the governors, it was explained.

DOG SHOW ENTRANTS

Stately, giant Great Danes, entered in the Santa Ana A. K. C. Dog show in the National Guard Armory, 415 West Fourth street next Saturday and Sunday, by Miss Patsy Hostetter, Flintridge co-ed whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter Jr., own the world-renowned Ridgerest Kennels of Great Danes, are shown below with Miss Hostetter holding the big dogs.

LEWIS BROWNE, NOTED AUTHOR AND LECTURER, TO TALK HERE

An opportunity will be presented residents of Orange county to hear Lewis Browne, well-known philosopher, lecturer and author, in a series of six lectures to be presented in January under the auspices of the Adult Education Lecture series, it was announced today.

The January lectures, featuring Browne, will be held at 7:30 o'clock on Monday evenings, instead of Thursday evenings, at which time the November and December lectures are heard, it was announced.

Browne's writings and addresses have won him recognition as an outstanding present day figure. His volume on comparative religion, "The Believing World," according to an official survey made by the American Library association, has been the most popular book on religion in the libraries of North America.

Other books from his pen include "Stranger Than Fiction," "That Man Heine," "The Graphic Bible," "Since Calvary," "Blessed Spinoza," and "How Odd of God." The lecturer has just returned from an extended foreign trip, and will bring accounts of his experiences for use in his lecture tour.

The complete lecture series to be presented by him is listed below:

January 6, Modern Civilization in England; January 13, Modern Civilization in France; January 20, Modern Civilization in Germany; January 27, Modern Civilization in Italy; February 3, Modern Civilization in Russia; February 10, Modern Civilization in Asia.

Dinner Is Held In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 7.—A planned covered dish dinner was enjoyed this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith. The dinner was served buffet style, the guests finding their places at small tables centered with yellow and lavender tapers in crepe paper holders. Zennias and chrysanthemums decorated the home.

Proceeds from the affair went into the hot lunch fund for grammar school students in San Clemente. Hot lunches are given all grammar school pupils, she said, regardless of whether or not they are able to pay for them.

Following dinner bridge was played, and prizes awarded at separate tables. Mrs. B. S. Green and Mrs. Robert Longbottom were in charge of the affair.

Mrs. Kenneth Pitcher was in charge of the dining room, and Lester Abell was in charge of the kitchen force. The dining room and social rooms of the club were decorated in seasonal motif.

SANTA ANA FHA OFFICES NOW RUN SMOOTHLY

"Santa Ana offices of the Federal Housing Administration are better prepared now to process and serve applications coming from approved mortgages and operative builders than at any time since its inception," James F. Berry, FHA field representative for Orange county, said today.

"The tremendous backlog," he said, "which accumulated during the three or four-month period during which we accepted applications directly from the property owners has been pretty well worked out at this time."

Fee valuations and architectural inspectors have now been appointed throughout the Southland, he said, so that quicker service and better local consideration is given all applicants.

"We find this system working nicely now," Berry stated, "and we have every reason to believe that an application may be processed and complete within a two-week period."

KEN MAYNARD FILM OPENS TOMORROW AT WALKER'S STATE

Cast as a secret government officer on the trail of cattle thieves, Ken Maynard comes to the screen of Walker's State theater tomorrow and Saturday in "Western Frontier." He is aided in presenting a thrilling story of his fight against outlaws by his horse Tarzan and a capable supporting cast. In addition to combating the rustlers, Maynard has another objective, finding his sister who was stolen by the Indians when she was a small child.

The program also brings a "Popeye" cartoon; a newsreel; a chapter of "Mystery Mountain" and a comedy.

The Kiddies club will meet for its regular Saturday matinee gathering at 1 p.m.

The current attractions, which will be screened for the last time tonight, are "Les Miserables" with Frederic March and Charles Laughton and "Headline Woman" with Roger Pryor and Heather Engel.

First Rehearsal Held By Chorus

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 7.—The Westminster Community chorus held its first rehearsal of the season Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the school, with Orion Bebermeyer as leader and George Clough as accompanist, with Mrs. Margaret Miller as assistant.

Enrolled at the first meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hardesty, Mrs. Marie Hare, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murdy, Mrs. Armand Hill, Raymond Burns, John Day, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook, Mrs. Bert Heath, Mrs. R. P. Meairs, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor, Mrs. N. A. Nelson, Mrs. Severson, Ray Drexler, Mrs. Anna Campbell, Mrs. B. B. FAMOUS MOVIE DOGS WILL BE ON EXHIBITION

Two moving picture dogs, "Buck", the St. Bernard and "Prince", a Great Dane, that appeared in "Call of the Wild," will be on exhibition at the Santa Ana A. K. C. Dog Show next Saturday and Sunday, it was announced today.

Charles Hopton, one of the five judges engaged for the show, has just arrived from the Hawaiian Islands where he judged a dog and horse show at Maui. In 1896 Hopton judged a dog show at the Royal Buckingham Palace at which Princess Alexandra was showing a Russian Wolfhound, given her by her brother the Czar Nicholas.

Considerable interest is being shown in this show, to be held in the National Guard Armory, 415 West Fourth street, sponsored by the Santa Ana Kennel club to assist the American Legion Auxiliary.

"Buck" and "Prince" are under long-term contracts with Twentieth Century, Fox Studios, and were released for the two-day showing here in Santa Ana. Carl Spitz, owner and trainer of the dogs, will be with them and will explain how he trained these dogs for the picture.

In 1909 Hopton was selected by Countess Cadogan, to judge a show in Dublin. In subsequent years he has judged dog shows in Germany, France, England and Ireland and in 48 years has judged three-quarters of a million dogs at 15,000 shows. He has made 100 trips across the Atlantic to judge shows. He has owned many champion dogs, at the present he owns no dog at all. He has a parrot that doesn't like dogs.

Our federal penitentiaries, reformatories, prison camps, hospitals, and jails now contain 14,750 inmates, the largest number of federal prisoners on record.

BANKER LEAVES FOR CONVENTION

Mrs. A. G. Flagg Uses Vivid Autumn Hues At Club Affair

Lunching together daily yesterday in the A. G. Flagg home, 1229 North Broadway, Wednesday Contract club members especially enjoyed the Harvest Home motif expressed by their hostess in the gleaming fruits, candles and frost-painted autumn leaves of dining room decorations. Miss Jimmie Flagg, daughter of the home, assisted in serving the luncheon courses and in various duties of the afternoon.

In afternoon contract play, prizes at the three tables went to Mrs. James Hardin, Mrs. C. V. Davis, and to the hostess herself, holders of high scores in their respective foursomes.

It has come to be an expected feature that any meeting of the club in the Flagg home, shall be signal for little Miss Linda Huber, daughter of the J. Riley Huber, and Mr. and Mrs. Flagg's little "grand," to come in and greet the members. Yesterday was no exception, and Mrs. Huber (Margaret Flagg) arrived according to schedule, with her small daughter, all velvet eyes, bronze curls and cheeks flaming with excitement at greeting her whole flock of adopted "aunties."

Mrs. Charles S. Kendall and Mrs. Angus J. Cruikshank were club guests sharing hospitality of their hostess with Mesdames George Briggs, F. E. Farnsworth, C. V. Davis, Roy Hall, James Hardin, Irwin F. Landis, Philip Hatzfeld, Earl Morrow and Parke Roper.

Serving of Dessert Course Precedes Bridge Play

An inviting dessert course with its sequel of contract bridge, yesterday awaited members of Mrs. Clarence Nisson's bridge club when they assembled early in the afternoon in her home, Red Hill avenue, Tustin.

Asters, in which feathery white blooms were mingled with those in rose and mauve tones, were used in the dining room where dessert was served at the long table before way was led to bridge tables in the adjoining living room.

Mrs. G. Kenneth Scovel made the afternoon's high score and was rewarded for her skill.

One guest, Mrs. John Backus, shared the afternoon with club members, Mrs. Nisson, Mrs. Harry Westover, Mrs. Robert Mize, Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mrs. Orlyn Robertson, Mrs. W. H. Wright and Mrs. Scovel.

Committee for Dance Reveals Plans to Jr. Ebell

Plans for Junior Ebell society's annual formal dance on November 23 in the clubhouse were revealed by the general chairman, Mrs. Charles McDaniell Jr. Tuesday night during the organization's business meeting conducted by the president, Miss Nan Mead.

Mrs. Raymond Terry, ticket chairman, has the assistance of Miss Mary Safley, Miss Margaret Guad and Mesdames Q. L. Hardy, Thoburn White, Robert Heffner, F. F. Mead Jr., Robert Gifford, George Walker, Mrs. George Hayden, decorations chairman, revealed plans for a tavern theme. Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, a chairman of refreshments. Music will be provided by Joe Lindbaum's orchestra.

Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, membership chairman, introduced several new members. Mrs. Albert Harvey gave an announcement for Orange County Forum. Mrs. Robert Gifford outlined plans for the next meeting of the Book Review section, November 19 in the home of Mrs. McDaniell, 2118 North Ross street, with Mrs. Frederick Elliott as co-hostess. Mrs. T. E. Stephenson will provide the program.

Announcements
Mrs. F. C. Rowland, president of Ebell society, announced that Mrs. Jack Valley will give a program of book reviews and current events for the next general meeting, Monday at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse. She will review the latest book of Margaret Harrison, who will be speaker at the following Ebell meeting November 26.

Mrs. Kemper Taylor reported on changes in the society's constitution. Miss Elizabeth Smith announced that the Sewing section will meet Tuesday, November 12 in the home of Miss Nan Mead, 2119 North Main street. Members whose names come in the list from A to D will be expected to attend.

Mrs. Burt Zaiser, curator, announced that members interested in joining the Travel section should contact the leader, Mrs. Kenneth Coulson. The next meeting of the group will be held November 20, with Mrs. Charles Weber and Mrs. Louise Norton as co-hostesses. Alan Reilly will talk on England. Mrs. Zaiser revealed plans for organizing a new contract bridge section, should enough members show interest in such a group.

Mrs. Calvin Flint took over her new duties as publicity chairman of the society, succeeding Miss Lovett Spangler, who resigned. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Gordon X. Richmond, Raymond Terry, F. F. Mead Jr., Thoburn White and Miss Mary Safley. Tea was poured by Mrs. F. C. Rowland and Mrs. Don Park.

Auxiliary Hears Talks On Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency

Prevention of juvenile delinquency provided the theme for talks by Kenyon Scudder of Los Angeles and Dr. E. L. Russell of this city at Tuesday afternoon's meeting of women's auxiliary to Orange County Medical association in Ebell clubhouse lounge.

Since this was a public relations meeting, representatives of women's organizations of all Orange county were present, and were introduced by Mrs. Newell Moore. Seventy members and guests were in attendance.

Mr. Scudder, who is connected with the Los Angeles probation office, discussed the prevention of juvenile delinquency through the functioning of co-ordinating councils which work on the three-committee plan. He referred to the three committees as the adjustment group (police, school and welfare organizations); character building committee (Scouts, Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., Campfire leaders, etc.); and environmental committee, composed of civic and service clubs, and women's organizations in general.

Mr. Scudder pointed out how one of the 68 co-ordinating councils in Los Angeles had broken up the Butch Baker gang of young boys by formation of a community workshop and play room. The speaker added that 1500 people are on the co-ordinating councils in Los Angeles.

Eugenic Sterilization
Dr. Russell of the county health department, discussed prevention of juvenile delinquency from the angle of "Eugenic Sterilization." He said: "The lower 25 per cent of the present population will produce 50 per cent of our next generation. Twenty-eight states now have sterilization laws, but need new laws which would give better facilities for sterilization."

Mrs. R. C. Green, president, conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Harry Huffman poured tea, presiding at a table decorated with horns of plenty filled with bright-hued autumn fruits. Mrs. John Ball was hostess chairman. On her committee were Mesdames E. M. Beasley, Lawrence Cameron, J. I. Clark, Paul Esslinger, B. W. Hardy, G. W. Olson, M. L. Tedstrom, Lawrence Whitaker.

The auxiliary will have a Christmas musicale Tuesday, December 3, at 2:30 p. m. in the Anaheim home of Mrs. H. A. Johnston.

Poetry Provides Theme For Woman's Club Program

Reports of the recent convention of Orange County Federation of Women's clubs at La Habra preceded a program on poetry Tuesday afternoon when Woman's club of Santa Ana met in Veterans' hall.

Mrs. E. M. Waycott, president, opened the meeting. Mrs. William Whitehead gave the first report of the convention also outlining the program for the Southern district convalesce to be held this month in Calexico. Mrs. Whitehead, secretary of the local club, was the surprised recipient of a bouquet of flowers which officers joined in giving her as a birthday gift.

Other reports on the county convention were given by Mrs. F. A. Martin and Mrs. R. G. Carman.

Mrs. J. D. Watkins was program chairman, introducing Mrs. George Bond, who read several original poems. Others which have been set to music by Mrs. Malcolm Macurda, were sung by a trio composed of Mrs. Macurda, Mrs. Charles Briscoe and Mrs. William Wells, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Hackleton. Mrs. Briscoe sang a solo, "The Herald of Spring," accompanied by Mrs. Macurda. The trio's closing number was the well known "I Love Life."

The next meeting will be November 15 at 2 p. m. in the hall, with Mrs. J. A. King as program chairman. Study section at 1 p. m. will be conducted by Mrs. Raymond McMahon.

Gold Star Mothers

Quilting and tying comforts during the morning hours, Gold Star Mothers held an all-day meeting Monday at Veterans hall with a covered-dish luncheon at noon. Mrs. Emma Christensen presided over a business session during the afternoon.

Members present were Mesdames Edith Reynolds, Iola Sharp, Martha Elliott, Ruth Morris, Hattie Perkins, Mary Crowl, Jennie Graves, Myrtle Stull and Emma Christensen.

Virile Carmel Poet is Subject of Modern Poetry Review

"Solstice," latest book of poetry from the gifted pen of Robinson Jeffers, was given a complete analytical review Tuesday for members and guests of Ebell Modern Poetry section when Mrs. Robert Northcross presented the program in the home of Miss Martha Ritchey, McFadden street.

Not only did Mrs. Northcross outline the background and theme of the dramatic narrative poem which gives the volume its name, but she discussed the spiritual outlook and characteristics of the author and read excerpts from the poems designed to illustrate some of her points as well as to show the lyric beauty, the imagery and some of the majestic strength of the poems.

Discussion of the book and its author continued during the tea hour, varied with the introduction of other matters of special interest to the section. These included the new book just issued by James Neil Northcross and his talented wife, an autographed, had just been received by Miss Judith May; a discussion of Edna St. Vincent Millay's latest work with a glance at poems in a current magazine, and plans for the next meeting with Mrs. Horace Scott, when the program will be devoted to the Pulitzer prize winner, Margaret Auslander, wife of Joseph Auslander, whose poetic works also will be discussed.

Miss Ritchey had the assistance of her niece, Mrs. Marion Allen Manning (Eleanor Reid Hogue) at the tea hour, as well as that of Mrs. S. B. Marshall. Dainties served suggested the richness of the ranch production, for walnuts, oranges and persimmons had gone to their concoction. As a parting friendly gesture on the part of the hostess, section members and guests made their selection from boxes of golden persimmons, glowing from one of the hedges of the formal garden. This is an annual courtesy of Miss Ritchey, who presides at what has come to be called "persimmon day" in annals of the section.

Guests present with section members and their leader, Mrs. Aldrie Worswick, were Mrs. J. B. Wolfe, Mrs. E. F. Perkins, Mrs. Edmund West, Mrs. Marion Manning of Maywood, and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Mayflower Club Has Meeting in Bellflower

Tuesday's meeting of Mayflower club was an especially enjoyable event for which members went to the home of Mrs. C. W. Copeland, 928 Ramona avenue, Bellflower. Mrs. Laura Sanborn of this city was co-hostess.

Many flowers brightened the rooms where tables were placed for luncheon. Mrs. J. W. Fraley was voted in as a new member of the organization.

Guests were Mrs. Charles Ortel and Mrs. Copeland's mother, Mrs. Sarah Marymee. Members sharing the hospitality of the two hostesses were Mesdames P. T. Isherwood, W. R. Ford, Amelia Perkins, E. E. Frisby, Archie Perkins and son Roger, J. W. Parkinson, R. E. Smith, Fannie Cunningham, William Lawrence, Edward Cochems, F. W. Sanford, W. A. Marymee, J. H. Patison, all of this city; Mrs. J. A. Cubley, Corona; Mrs. Harvey Springer, San Bernardino.

Wrycende Maegdenu

Making plans for an educational house party to be held the weekend of November 16 at Camp Baldy, members of Wrycende Maegdenu club met last night in the Y. W. clubrooms.

Miss Carolyn Cushing, general chairman, revealed the arrangements for the weekend event are well under way. It is expected that a former advisor, Mrs. Theron Clark (Nancy Elder) of Los Angeles, will be leader of the conference which will feature the party.

A monthly business meeting was held, with Miss Rowena Newcomb in charge. Tentative plans were made for a winter benefit program which the club will present, with the Mexican Players of Padua Hills as entertainers.

Erma Brown McClelland of the Chicago College of Beauty had provided a program on "Corrective Makeup." This was put on by Mrs. Margaret McGurk of Hollywood, formerly of Santa Ana, and Miss Stanford. Miss Jean Gaspar served as a model.

Contract Bridge Club Is Entertained by Mrs. Montgomery

Mrs. Tarver Montgomery's charming home at 1104 North Main street, was setting Tuesday for the meeting of a contract bridge group whose members always enjoy the informality of a dessert course preliminary to their afternoon of play.

In arranging card tables for this opening feature, Mrs. Montgomery used bowls of small asters and daisies in conjunction with dainty luncheon linens. Places were indicated by harmonious tully cards, for Mesdames Edward Walker, Cood Adams, Alvin Nowotny, Edward C. Erwin, Asa Hoffman, Frank Hoffman, Clyde Walker, the hostess, Mrs. Montgomery, one new member, Mrs. C. J. Fleming, present for her first club meeting, and three guests, Mrs. Frank Prescott, Mrs. Clarence Nisson and Mrs. Roland Kloss.

Prizes awarded at the close of play for special scores went to Mrs. Erwin and to one of the guests, Mrs. Nisson.

Party Guests Present Gifts to Bride-elect

In compliment to Miss Edith Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons of West First street, whose marriage to Charles Smith of Costa Mesa will be an event of late November, Mrs. Victor Schyling entertained in her home at West First street Monday afternoon.

Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. Charles M. McIntyre and Mrs. Elsie Harper. Gifts for the kitchen of the new home she, will soon be establishing, were presented the honoree during the tea hour.

Guests with Miss Parsons included the Misses Evalena Quill, Nadine Heartfield, Amy Arrants, Anne Vanderhorst, Valoe Patterson, Helen Beatty, Mesdames Charles McIntyre, Eva Loper, M. A. Parsons, Cecil Wilson, Kenneth McMillan, Mary Morrison, Elsie Harper, W. M. Parsons, Roy Smith, and the hostess, Mrs. Schyling.

Long Established Club Honors Member at Dinner Event

Double L club, that social organization launched several years ago when the youthful matrons of its membership were school-girls, held one of its delightful meetings Tuesday night with Mrs. Joseph H. Danziger, in her ranch home near Garden Grove, with Mrs. George Chapman as special guest of honor.

Carnations and graceful sprays of delphinium were combined in table appointments for the dinner hour with which the gay party opened, and all appointments of place cards, nut cups and similar features, gave emphasis to the color combination. So did the presentation to Mrs. Chapman, of the Double L gift of a wicker wardrobe, suitable for enclosing a layette.

Bridge played during the evening, was most successful for the special club guest, Mrs. Paul Ragan, to who was presented the prize for high score.

Mrs. Danziger's guests included in addition to Mrs. Chapman, Mesdames George Parker, William Penn, Arthur Angle, E. T. McFadden, Walter Hill, Carl Edgar and Charles Nussbaumer of this city, Mrs. Arthur Shipkey, Anaheim; Mrs. Wilbur Stewart, Covina; Mrs. William Stroschein, Alhambra; Mrs. Robert Deinger, Torrance, and Mrs. Ragan of Santa Ana, a guest.

MIXING BOWL

"Dish water hands" need never bother the woman who keeps in her kitchen a bottle of lotion, and uses it. A very good lotion calls for—

3 ounces glycerine
2 ounces vinegar
1-2 teaspoon tincture benzoin.
Ask your druggist to put the glycerine and benzoin into a six-ounce bottle; when you get home almost fill the bottle with vinegar, shake well and apply after your hands have been in the water for any length of time. In a pinch this lotion can be used for a make-up base. One user reports that its use this summer prevented tanning when on fishing trips.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
1-2 grapefruit
1 soft boiled egg
1 small roll, split and toasted
1-2 pat butter
1 cup coffee with 1-4 cup hot skimmed milk, no sugar.
Calory total, 325.

When cake recipe calls for al-

1-2 cups crums right.

6 large potatoes, pared and sliced very thin
Flour, well seasoned
Fine bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
1 large onion, peeled only
1 cup milk mixed with a pinch of soda
Finely chopped raw bacon for top.

Oil a shallow casserole, put in a layer of potato, sprinkle with seasoned flour, bread crumbs, and so on until everything is in the dish. Press the whole onion down into the potatoes, pour the milk over, and cover top quite thickly with diced raw bacon.

Bake about 1 hour or longer in a moderate oven. The test will be the tenderness of the potato. Just before serving take a sharp knife and carefully section the onion, so that each serving gets its share.

For the flour and crumbs you'll find 1-4 cup flour mixed with 1-1-2 cups crums right.

MEN WANTED HERE HELD BY FLORIDA WRIT

BULLETIN

A telegram received from Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel and Theo Lacy from Tampa, Fla., this afternoon was to the effect that a writ of habeas corpus had been filed in the county court in Tampa following the governor's granting of extradition in the cases of P. R. Osborne and M. R. McKinstry.

This means, according to Merle Dean, chief criminal deputy sheriff, that the officers and their prisoners will be held up in Tampa for several more days, pending the hearing.

Governor Dave Sholtz of Florida today ordered the extradition of P. R. Osborne and M. R. McKinstry, wanted in Santa Ana, buncos charges, over which Santa Ana deputies have been waging a battle for the past week or more.

Information to this effect was received by The Register today from Tallahassee.

At the same time it was learned that Herman J. Zabel, fingerprint expert here, who with Chief Jailor Theo Lacy Jr., went to Tampa to take charge of the men arrested there, had been reprimanded by the governor for "trying to split the men out of the state."

The officers were halted by sheriff's officers at Tampa while enroute to Jacksonville with the men, the state of Florida contending that this was done after attorneys for the prisoners had obtained a writ of habeas corpus.

Zabel wired Sheriff Logan Jackson several days ago saying that the prisoners had been taken away from him and Lacy after being turned over to them by the Tampa police, and intimated that politics was playing a big part in their behavior.

STOP THAT COLD THE FIRST DAY!

A cold once rooted is a cold of danger! Trust to no makeshift methods. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD treatment and not a preparation good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is effective treatment for a cold. It is expressly a cold tablet. It is internal and definite. It opens the bowels, combats the infection in the system, relieves the headache and fever, and tones and fortifies the system. Don't be satisfied with anything less. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drugstore. Ask for it by the full name and accept no substitute on any pretext.

MARCH 10 SET FOR FINISH OF P. O. BUILDING

ANAHEIM, Nov. 7.—The Anaheim post office should be completed at least 10 weeks earlier than contracted for, or about March 10, according to Contractors G. F. Campbell and Charles P. Kelly, who announce that the work is progressing more smoothly than anticipated with no obstacles in the way of ground difficulties or labor troubles presenting themselves so far.

Ground tests were entirely satisfactory, H. J. Schmittroth, superintendent of construction, says. The excavation work for the basement was completed last week. Next week concrete will be poured into the footing forms, under construction this week.

The steam shovel is no longer in use, the men working by hand this week to prepare the ground for the concrete. Five steel men were started at work yesterday and with the carpenters and laborers at work number about 16. Next week, when concrete for the footing will be poured, about 40 men will be put to work.

The contract set the time limit for construction at 250 days after the contract was received, which was Sept. 12. This would give the contractors until May 19. At the present rate of progress, however, it is expected to be done within 180 days after the contract was issued. This would make it March 10, Ground was broken at the site on Broadway just west of Los Angeles street on October 18. The building is being constructed at a cost of $1,896. The original appropriation, under the Hoover administration, was approximately $120,000.

The council also decided to enter into some small projects for sidewalk repair work, half of which is paid by the property owners. The work will be done with city labor and will not entail any financial investment. Four new flags were ordered to replace the seven-year-old ones which are worn out, the new ones to be on hand for Armistice day.

APPROVE PLANS FOR $2500 CAR STORAGE SHED

ANAHEIM, Nov. 7.—Plans for a $2500 storage shed for the remaining cars and trucks owned by the city were approved Tuesday night by the city council when City Engineer E. P. Hagood submitted final specifications. The project was decided upon sometime ago. It is being submitted as a PWA project.

Plans call for a shed 25 by 125 feet, matching the present car shed at the power plant yard, with brick walls and a corrugated iron roof. It will contain 14 stalls, which will provide storage space for the remaining of the city's approximate 25 cars and trucks when not in use.

BENEFIT PARTY TO BE HELD BY CHURCH GUILD

ANAHEIM, Nov. 7.—The card party, planned by St. Agnes guild for October 24, and postponed from that date due to the windstorm, will be an event of this evening at the parish hall of St. Michael's Episcopal church.

The party is being given for the purpose of benefitting the church fund for a new roof for the parish hall.

Plans are under way to carry out the entire evening in a southern theme.

Play begins at 8 p. m. and each table will play any game the players wish, a prize to be offered for every table. Following card playing and before the supper is served Little Lois Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. M. Smith will give a southern dance in costume.

Mrs. Earl Jackson, as president of the guild, will head the hostess committee. Miss Dorothy Youngbluth is general chairman of the party. Heading her committees are: Miss Freda Lumsdon, tickets; Mrs. Ted Kuchel, Mrs. T. K. M. Smith and Mrs. Harry Wilhelm, arrangements; Mrs. Ralph Maas, menu; Mrs. William Grafton, decorations; Miss Adah Louise Wilcox, serving; and Mrs. Robert Easton, kitchen. The entire membership assisted on these committees.

News From Orange And Nearby

NEW PARKING PLAN GOES IN EFFECT SOON

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Plans for parallel parking on Glassell street and Chapman avenue were made at the meeting of the Orange city council last night. A prolonged discussion was held on extensions of water services to out of town users.

Application had been made to the state highway commission to extend the time for parallel parking until a later date and City Clerk T. H. Eljah stated that a reply had been received from the commission stating that parallel parking along these highways became effective September 1 by state law and that the highway commission had no power to extend time for its institution.

Permits for an additional water service on North Glassell street on a line including four services, outside the city limits will be granted K. T. Conner when he has made a written application to the city council through W. R. Hayes on whose property the meter for the services is installed. Conner stated that water was needed for a ranch owned by the Home Loan Realty company at Vista avenue and Cambridge street.

A decision was reached that all requests for outside water services must be in writing. An application is to be made for 14 services through L. C. Bunke, of Olive.

Councilman Cal D. Lester presented figures on revenue from outside water services of which he stated there are 140 bringing a monthly revenue of $315.12. At present outside consumers are charged double the $1 rate paid by city users and a proposal was made to charge a minimum rate of $2.50 a month, as it was pointed out, other cities charge from $2.50 to $3 for out of the city services. The water committee was asked to make a survey and to report at the next meeting to be held December 4.

The Southern California telephone company was given permission to install a new conduit from the Alpha Beta market to the northeast corner of the Plaza. The work is to cost about $1500 and the line is to be installed for future use before new paving is put in around the plaza. Sidewalks are to be tunneled and trees in the plaza will not be disturbed.

Fireman Appointed

Raymond Giesner was appointed a member of the Orange fire department to replace Harold Richardson, who resigned and Ernest Hagen was appointed to replace his father, W. G. Hagen, who is spending sometime on the desert for his wife's health. Hagen is assistant chief and this office will be filled later.

A motion was made authorizing the city to join with the city of Lodi in any briefs which may be submitted in a suit filed by the P. G. and E. vs. the city of Lodi to restrain the municipality from installing a Diesel engine and operating its own light and power plant and discontinuing P. G. and E. service.

Rights of ways for widening La Vista avenue at Batavia street have been secured from M. L. Pearson at a cost of $125 and from Mrs. Sadie Hartman at $175. City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond reported.

Engineer To Go North

W. K. Hillyard, acting engineer of the city, will be sent to Sacramento to consult with the highway commission as the possibility has been pointed out by that body that the bids for paving Batavia street and resurfacing parts of Glassell street and Chapman avenue may exceed expected costs. The commission asked the city to provide additional costs from the general fund.

An ordinance requiring "U" turns on intersections at Glassell and Maple and Chapman and Olive was adopted on second reading. Judge A. W. Swayze reported $130 collected in fines. Chief of Police George H. Franzen reported 14 arrests, nine traffic citations, $1337.63 collected in business licenses, $8 in wheel taxes and $4 in dog licenses. Paul Welser was appointed to succeed Clyde Feldine in the street department. Christmas decorations for the plaza are to duplicate those of last year.

Thanksgiving Day Service Is Arranged

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Thanksgiving services were planned at a meeting of the Orange Ministerial union yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. A devotional period was conducted by the president, the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson. The services will be held at the First Christian church at 9:30 a. m., with the Rev. Mr. Hobson as the speaker.

December services in the churches will be centered around the observance of National Bible day. Plans were made for a Christian night service at the Baptist church with a musical program.

MRS. S. B. EDWARDS HONOREE AT PARTY

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Mrs. S. B. Edwards, worthy matron of Scouter chapter, O. E. S., was the honored guest at an evening party Wednesday at the Masonic hall. Hostesses were Mrs. Gwen Thompson and Mrs. A. H. Tyrrell. Decorations were carried out in a blue and gold color theme. Refreshments were served at tables where the colors were stressed in flowers, candles and appointments.

Mrs. Edwards was presented with several pieces of linen woven in Scotland, the associate matron, Mrs. Thompson, making the presentation while the associate patron, C. L. Thomas, presented R. C. Bunch with a handsome gift.

Cards were the diversion of the evening. S. B. Edwards was awarded the prize for pinocchio, Mrs. J. N. Rowley the prize for contract, Mrs. Lucille Buckles for auction and Mrs. Mary Sufferin, the lucky prize.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames S. B. Edwards, R. C. Bunch, Frank Eys, Wesley Kolchhorst, Charles Foster, Sherman Gillogly, Ross Stuckey, J. N. Rowley, W. C. Lee, E. M. Chapman, E. J. Browne, Joe Peterson, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Tyrrell, and Mesdames Gwen Thompson, Lucille Buckles, Freda Garber, E. S. Ross, E. E. Kirkwood, Mary Sufferin, Miss Ethel Sufferin and C. L. Thomas.

MRS. H. L. HAYNES CHAPTER HOSTESS

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Mrs. H. L. Haynes was hostess to members of chapter 1E of the P. E. O. sisterhood at a Hawaiian luncheon given at her home Wednesday.

Hibiscus blossoms and puna vine were used profusely in the decorations, with lauhala mats, koa bowls and tiny Hawaiian figures adding to the atmosphere.

The guests were greeted at the door by little Harriette Kay Wilson, 3-year-old granddaughter of the hostess, who was dressed in a hula costume for the occasion.

Bright tropical fish marking the places disclosed a menu of Hawaiian food. Mrs. Haynes was assisted in serving by her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Wilson, of Corona, who later gave a short talk on the years she spent in the islands. Also included on the program were poems on Hawaii written by Don Blanding and read by Miss Mildred Watson.

Present were Mrs. B. B. Barton, Mrs. O. K. Anderson, Mrs. W. S. Brubaker, Mrs. B. S. Brubaker, Mrs. H. S. Campbell, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. Frank Collins, Mrs. O. K. Dean, Mrs. P. M. Gullick, Mrs. Walter Kogler, Mrs. C. W. Jordan, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. Donald Sniley, Mrs. C. A. Watson, Miss Mildred Watson, Mrs. S. C. Wheeler and the hostess, Mrs. H. L. Haynes.

OUTLINE PLANS OF Y. W. ORGANIZATIONS

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Plans for the formation of a Girl Reserve group among the Mexicans were discussed at the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. board Wednesday night. Miss Felicitas Alcantar, who will assist in the organization, spoke briefly of her plans. She was accompanied by Miss Soledad Mandujano.

Reports of the annual financial drive were made by Mrs. Horace Newman, who expressed her appreciation for the co-operation of the community in the campaign. Members of the drive teams present included Mrs. Roy Snodgrass, Mrs. Parker Robertson, Mrs. Angeline Courtney, Mrs. Rebecca Pope and Mrs. C. E. Lush.

Plans for membership activity were discussed under the direction of Miss Edna Bargsten. Mrs. C. A. Robinson reported on Girl Reserve activities, and Miss Helen Estock, leader of the Hi Tri, announced the second of a series of fellowships for all high school students to be held at the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening.

Board members present were Mrs. Percy Green, president; Mrs. Horace Newman, Mrs. W. J. Sutcliffe, Mrs. Frank Eys, Mrs. Wilbur, Mrs. E. R. Forbes, Miss Phyllis Wamamaker, Mrs. Homer Davis, Mrs. Vern Estes, Miss Edna Bargsten, Mrs. V. A. Wood, Mrs. Amie Palmer and Mrs. Ben Morse.

Members of Aid Work On Quilts

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Work on quilts and sewing for the Christmas box to be sent to the Lutheran mission in Arizona took up the time of the Immanuel Ladies' Aid society at the regular meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. Albert Struck presided at the business session, at which time it was decided to postpone the fellowship dinner planned for November 15 until the evening of November 22. On that afternoon a snowflake sale will be held, starting at 3 p. m., the proceeds to be added to the society funds.

Mrs. A. G. Webbeking and Miss Laura Webbeking were appointed as the visiting committee for this month, while Mrs. Charles Mack, Mrs. Fred Mueller and Mrs. Leo Maas comprise the coffee committee for the next meeting.

Church Trustees To Hold Session

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—A meeting of elders and trustees of Presbyterian churches of Orange county was planned at a session of the board of sessions of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday. The date was set for November 12.

The Rev. Glen W. Moore, newly elected executive secretary of the Los Angeles Presbytery, and Dr. Herman Weber, of New York, director of stewardship of Presbyterian churches, will be the speakers.

COUNCIL OFFICERS CHOSEN ON DEC. 3

ORANGE, Nov. 7.—Officers of the Orange Girl Scout council will be elected at a supper meeting to be held December 3, according to plans made at a meeting of the group at the city hall basement Tuesday. Mrs. E. E. Hallman, president, appointed a nominating committee of Mrs. E. S. Ross, Mrs. Floy Wilber and Mrs. Robert B. Johnson to make a report at that time.

Reports of Girl Scout activities during Girl Scout week were given by the leaders, Mrs. Gordon X. Richmond, Miss Virginia Jones, Mrs. Marguerite Loescher, Mrs. Paul Nelson, Mrs. Ted Korse and Miss Helen Meyer.

Troop No. 10, with Mrs. Korse as the leader, laid the table for the supper, as part of their requirements for hostess badges. Mrs. M. L. Reed and Mrs. E. H. Smith were supper hostesses. Plans were completed for a float to be entered in the Armistice day parade at Anaheim, when Scout projects will be shown.

Council members present included Mrs. Hallman, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. Floy Wilber, Mrs. M. L. Reed, Mrs. Glen Reed and Mrs. A. R. Benson.

Newport Harbor Gets Patrol Boat December 1

C. OF C. PLANS CEREMONY FOR CROSSING WORK

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 7.—A Fish and Game commission patrol boat for the protection of the Orange county coast line game fish preserve will be put into service December 1, with headquarters at Newport harbor, it was announced today by Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

Welch announced that he had received word of the commissioning of the boat from Dr. E. C. Moore, Los Angeles, chairman of the state fish and game commission. Plans for the adequate patrolling of the coast line preserve and a discussion of licensing provisions for 1936 will be outlined at a meeting of the commission Saturday at Huntington Beach.

Capt. W. J. Brown, J. B. McNally, Darrell King and Dr. C. G. Huston will attend the meeting from the Newport district, to protest against the levying of a $2 tax against pier fishermen, and to ask that adequate provision be made for the protection of game fish and sport fishermen within the preserve limits.

At last night's meeting of the chamber plans were laid for a county-wide press horsehoe tournament to be held next month on the Newport grounds. Sam Meyer was appointed to contact the county press in regard to the tournament and to work out plans.

Plans also were laid for groundbreaking ceremonies to be held when work starts on the overhead crossing project at the Arches, expected to get under way about November 21, according to State Engineer S. V. Cortelyou. Welch will work out plans for the event with Cortelyou this week.

The secretary was instructed to present a letter to the city council urging that rules for one-way traffic be established in the district on Central avenue between the public parking area to A street in Balboa. A suggestion also will be given the council, recommending that an area before the yacht club in the bay be reserved for visiting craft drawing more than 10 feet of water.

The chamber passed a resolution calling for all business houses to close on Armistice day between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. A 30-day leave of absence was granted President Mark Johnson, who will appoint a chamber nominating committee this week, before he leaves on a two-month trip. Election of officers will be held on January 14.

A letter from Congressman Sam Collins was read, stating that the federal committee on defense has recently made an aerial investigation of the Newport harbor. A letter was read from Charles B. Shattuck, Los Angeles, who stated that he will attend a district real estate meeting here November 21.

A communication was read from E. J. Louis of the Fidelity and Casualty company of New York, in which it was suggested that the district lay plans for a celebration of the discovery of America, in 1492, with Balboa as the focal point of the local celebration.

Musical Program Of School Pupils Presented Nov. 14

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 7.—November 14 has been set as the date for an extensive musical program to be presented by the music department of the Westminster elementary school free to the public at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Eighty children will participate in the program. It will consist of chorus numbers, rhythm band numbers, readings, novelty numbers and will culminate in a short operetta, based on the story of "The Three Bears."

The entertainment is in charge of Miss Elsie Franz, head of the local music department; Miss Nellie French and Orion Berbermyer with other teachers assisting.

AFRICA MISSION WORK TOLD BY BREA SPEAKER

BREA, Nov. 7.—Miss Edith Fuller, nurse on leave from the hospital at Mt. Sillinda, Africa, was the guest speaker at the monthly luncheon of the Congregational church guild Wednesday, being presented by the program chairman, Mrs. R. M. Ross.

Miss Fuller told of living conditions there today and of the ever widening influence of Christian work which is now showing in the second generation in that area. From 400 to 500 native boys and girls are being trained in Christian methods of living and this year 12 boys and girls are having hospital training, their text books having been compiled by Miss Fuller and reduced to terms readable by fifth and sixth grade readers.

Mrs. J. D. Neuls, president, presided at the opening and devotions were led by Mrs. D. E. Gayford. The guild voted to assist the church school in filling baskets at Christmas time. Announcement was made of the thank offering service on November 13, following the potluck dinner.

Mrs. Neuls named Mrs. L. A. Hogue as chairman of the nominating committee, to be assisted by Mrs. C. O. Harvey and Mrs. Gayford.

Mrs. O. S. Close and members of her circle, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Hogue, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Harry Yarbrough and Mrs. A. A. Voorhees, served the luncheon which was attended by 25 women. Thanksgiving motifs in brown and yellow decorated the tables.

REPORT REVEALS BIG INCREASE IN LAGUNA BUILDING WORK

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 7.—Building permits, announced at last night's meeting of the Laguna Beach city council, show a steady gain for the past three years. Figures for October, 1935, show that 16 permits were issued, at a total cost of $20,370, bringing the year's total to date to $361,137.

In October, 1934, 14 permits were issued, totalling $27,413; for a year's total of $208,408; in October, 1933, 10 permits were issued for $8050, with a year's total figure to that date of $35,342.

R. S. Cummings, new resident of Laguna Beach, appeared before the city council, presenting proposed plans for the operation of a new taxi service. Cummings explained that the business would be operated by himself and one partner, Albert Stevens, and that their office would be in conjunction with the Laguna Bus depot at 255 Coast Boulevard south. The council agreed to grant the new firm a license.

BEACH P. T. A. MEMBERS TOLD CAUSE OF WAR

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 7.—Wars are bred by individuals seeking a personal profit at any cost, according to Arthur Corey, assistant county superintendent of schools, who spoke at the annual fathers' night meeting of the Seal Beach Parent-Teacher association Tuesday in the auditorium of the new elementary school.

Supporting his declaration that "if the profits are taken out of war there will be no war" with established facts, Corey summarized findings of the recent senate investigation of munitions manufacturers.

Membership in the local unit of P. T. A. is already 25 per cent greater than last year's total, according to a report of Mrs. J. N. Scott, membership chairman.

Student features on the program were provided by Miss Shirley Mayes, who gave two readings, fifth and sixth grade choruses, directed and accompanied by Miss Wilhelmina Breuer. Members of the fifth grade sang "Japanese Love Song" and those in the sixth grade sang "Voices of the Woods."

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and her two daughters, Virginia and Katherine, radio entertainers, gave four numbers as a Hawaiian trio.

Suggestions for directing children in a definite program of creative living will be heard at the third meeting of the study group when the members meet at Community church auditorium November 12 from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Special reports on the general subject, "Building the Foundation for a Creative Life," will be heard from Mrs. J. N. Scott, Mrs. Walker Snyder, Miss Gail Alward, Mrs. James Zoeter and Mrs. James Prentice. Mrs. Stephen Douglas

POST TO ENTER UNIT IN PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

LA HABRA, Nov. 7.—An armistice day dance to be sponsored by the American Legion post and auxiliary was planned at the meeting of the Legion this week at the Memorial hall.

It was decided that the local post would enter a marching unit of 12 men in the Anaheim parade. Those who will compose this unit are Lambert Vandenberg, L. E. Proud, Clarence Winters, Frank Moreno, Thomas LaMonte, Roy Stedman, E. L. Donaldson, John T. Frazier, H. H. Peabody, E. E. Catton, A. L. Treff and E. N. Whittemore.

A report from G. R. Smith, scoutmaster, and his assistant, Earl Strupp, was that the local Boy Scout troop would enter a marching unit in the parade. Boys who are going to Anaheim with their parents or others are asked to meet at 10 a. m. at the Anaheim Union High school. Those who desire transportation from La Habra to Anaheim are to meet at the Washington school by 9:30 a. m.

The Legion plans to sponsor a turkey shoot November 24 on Fullerton road in La Habra Heights. John T. Frazier was appointed chairman of this event.

An old time dance was planned for November 20. It will be an invitational affair.

The annual membership dinner will be held at the hall tonight, with members and prospective members of the Legion post and auxiliary in attendance.

Agnet West at Washington school and Mrs. Ann Marie Marsh and Mr. Aldridge at the Lincoln school reported 100 per cent on letters returned.

The GOLDEN FEATHER by Robert Bruce

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JEAN DUNN, secretary to DONALD, answered BOBBY WALLACE, automobile salesman asks her to marry him.

At the Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS whose business connection is vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to a Mr. and Mrs. LEWIS. Bobby sells a car for Lewis, who buys a car.

JEAN goes home for a vacation. Sandy comes to see her and she agrees to marry him. Bobby's father is a bank robber. Bobby starts a search for his father.

JEAN goes to the farm where Sandy and the Lewises are staying. Larry learns Sandy was one of the bank robbers. Bobby believes the car Lewis bought is armed. Bobby undertakes to find out.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXII
The federal men pushed Doc Jeckers ahead of them, into a room which seemed to be both living room and waiting room, and dumped him unceremoniously into a chair. While Larry Glenn and Matthews walked through the apartment to the back, opened a window and stuck his head out. In the alley, looking at the gate in the old board fence, were Al Peters and Tony LaRocco.

"Hey," yelled Gunderson. "Come on up, guys."

He returned to the front room. Doc Jeckers was still glaring up in helpless defiance at his captors.

"Now that you're here, what do you want?" he demanded. "You know that warrant don't mean anything. It's easy to get one, but making it stick is something else. What do you want?"

"You, chiefly," said Larry calmly. He whistled softly, as if preoccupied with something else, and looked with studious care all about the little room. While he was doing so—and while the prisoner eyed him with uneasy wariness—the hall door opened and LaRocco and Peters appeared. They surveyed Doc Jeckers coolly and dispassionately, and then looked questioningly at Larry.

"Well, boys," said Larry, "we might as well find out what sort of place the doctor has got here."

Gunderson pulled up a chair and sat with his knees touching Jeckers', looking at the shrunken little man with an air of amiable menace. The other four men immediately set to work to show how trained, experienced detectives act when they are giving an apartment search.

They went through the little living room with a fine-tooth comb. They penetrated into an inner office, with a surgery adjoining it, and pried there. They went on to bedroom, bathroom and kitchen; and half an hour later they returned to the room where the doctor sat, looking as if they had discovered ample evidence of untold infamies.

"How about it, Jeckers," said Matthews suddenly, coming to a halt in front of the little man, his hands on his hips. "Want to talk us all about it?"

"All about what?" said the little doctor, Matthews looked at him scornfully, and let them lead him down to the car. They made the trip back to the Division of Investigation offices without incident. Matthews led the way into his inner office, where Jeckers was planted in a chair, with the five agents grouped about him in an irregular semicircle.

Larry sat on a desk, his hands clasped about one knee. "I'm not going to call you doctor," he began. "You're a disgrace to the medical profession. If I say 'Doc' it's just a handy nickname, not an abbreviation for doctor. See?"

Jeckers looked at him contemptuously. "You wouldn't know, would you?" he mused. "Well, this isn't a very good place to talk anyway. Let's all go downtown to my office. It's more homey there, somehow. I'm sure we'll all get on better."

The prisoner looked up apprehensively. Gunderson, with exaggerated gentleness, helped him to his feet, and rested one hand gently on his upper arm.

"Don't try to make a break for it as we go down to the car," advised Gunderson softly. "I might get excited and hurt you."

He grinned, and shepherded the doctor toward the door. In the foyer the little man resisted passively. "Wait," he begged. "If we're going downtown—let me get some—some stuff together first."

Larry Glenn and Matthews exchanged glances.

"Where do you keep it?" asked Larry. The doctor stared at him for a long moment, then he shrugged helplessly.

"In the surgery," he said. "If you're such good searchers, you must've seen it. Top right drawer of the mahogany cabinet."

Tony LaRocco went into the surgery and came back with a small round pill box. He held it up with the question "This?" Doc Jeckers nodded and held out his hand for it. Larry took the box and pocketed it, shaking his head.

"Not now, Doc," he said. "After we've talked."

Jeckers looked at him sourly, shrugged again, and let them lead him down to the car.

They made the trip back to the Division of Investigation offices without incident. Matthews led the way into his inner office, where Jeckers was planted in a chair, with the five agents grouped about him in an irregular semicircle.

Larry sat on a desk, his hands clasped about one knee. "I'm not going to call you doctor," he began. "You're a disgrace to the medical profession. If I say 'Doc' it's just a handy nickname, not an abbreviation for doctor. See?"

Jeckers looked up impassively, power to stir him.

"Within the last three days," said Larry, "you gave treatment to a man suffering from a bullet wound—in the shoulder? Thanks." Jeckers stared up: "I didn't say a dam' thing. You can't frame me that way!"

"Nobody's framing you. You treated a man who had been shot through the shoulder. I want to know who the man was, where you treated him, who called you, where the man was staying, and who was with him. I'm reminding you now that by treating this man you made yourself liable to a prison term. You may be able to help yourself somewhat by giving me this information."

Jeckers looked at him contemptuously. "You wouldn't know, would you?" he mused. "Well, this isn't a very good place to talk anyway. Let's all go downtown to my office. It's more homey there, somehow. I'm sure we'll all get on better."

The prisoner looked up apprehensively. Gunderson, with exaggerated gentleness, helped him to his feet, and rested one hand gently on his upper arm.

"Don't try to make a break for it as we go down to the car," advised Gunderson softly. "I might get excited and hurt you."

He grinned, and shepherded the doctor toward the door. In the foyer the little man resisted passively. "Wait," he begged. "If we're going downtown—let me get some—some stuff together first."

Larry Glenn and Matthews exchanged glances.

"Where do you keep it?" asked Larry. The doctor stared at him for a long moment, then he shrugged helplessly.

"In the surgery," he said. "If you're such good searchers, you must've seen it. Top right drawer of the mahogany cabinet."

Tony LaRocco went into the surgery and came back with a small round pill box. He held it up with the question "This?" Doc Jeckers nodded and held out his hand for it. Larry took the box and pocketed it, shaking his head.

"Not now, Doc," he said. "After we've talked."

Jeckers looked at him sourly, shrugged again, and let them lead him down to the car.

They made the trip back to the Division of Investigation offices without incident. Matthews led the way into his inner office, where Jeckers was planted in a chair, with the five agents grouped about him in an irregular semicircle.

Larry sat on a desk, his hands clasped about one knee. "I'm not going to call you doctor," he began. "You're a disgrace to the medical profession. If I say 'Doc' it's just a handy nickname, not an abbreviation for doctor. See?"

Jeckers looked up impassively, power to stir him.

"Within the last three days," said Larry, "you gave treatment to a man suffering from a bullet wound—in the shoulder? Thanks." Jeckers stared up: "I didn't say a dam' thing. You can't frame me that way!"

"Nobody's framing you. You treated a man who had been shot through the shoulder. I want to know who the man was, where you treated him, who called you, where the man was staying, and who was with him. I'm reminding you now that by treating this man you made yourself liable to a prison term. You may be able to help yourself somewhat by giving me this information."

He put his hands behind his head and looked absently out the window.

"It's a long, long chain," he said meditatively. "The chain that keeps organized crime going. The bandits are the smallest part of it. It's the crooks down along the line who make it possible for the gunmen to operate. The real danger is in a long, long chain of crooks, lawyers, renegade doctors, hysteric financiers who'll handle hot money, unscrupulous hotel owners who harbor them—getting them is just as important as getting the men who carry the guns."

"Well, we've snapped one link in the chain here this morning. And when we get back to Dover we're going to snap a few more. And meanwhile—"

He left the sentence unfinished and looked out at blue Lake Michigan, with a plume of smoke rising in a long, gray slant against the clear horizon.

Lunch time came and went, and the afternoon wore along. At last Matthews tapped on their door. "Come along," he said. "He's cracking."

They hurried to Matthews' office. Through the door where Gunderson was keeping his weary vigil they heard a pleading voice—a voice whose utter lack of self-control and complete, shameless abasement were somehow unspeakably horrible to hear.

"For the love of God," came a hoarse cry, "give me that little box! I'm dying! See—I can't stand still! It's killing me! Please, please, man—God!"

Larry looked at Matthews with narrowed eyes.

"This isn't a pleasant trick," he said, "but there's no dodging it." He opened the door. Jeckers was pacing the floor feverishly.

"Please, mister, for the love of God—" he began. Larry drew him to his feet and thrust him into a chair.

"Steady!" he barked. Jeckers, momentarily calmed, looked up questioningly. "Answer the questions I asked you this morning," said Larry, "and you can have your box. I promise you."

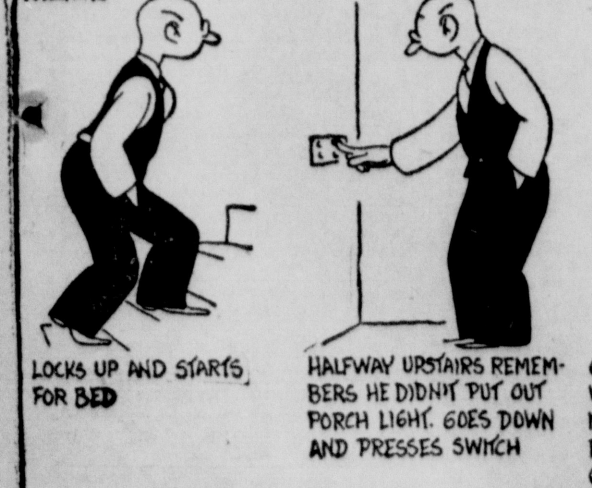

He held the box aloft. Jeckers wrung his hands frantically. "I'll talk! I'll talk! I'll tell you everything!" he cried.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY
Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Nature put over 15 miles of day tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass pints a day and so get rid of more than three pounds of waste matter.
When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, cutting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and keep the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day.

Social Briefs

For Club Speaker

In the interval between his two speaking engagements in this city Thursday, Kenyon Scudder, Los Angeles county probation officer and recognized authority on problems of youth, was complimented at a dinner party by Dr. and Mrs. Merrill Hollingsworth and Dr. and Mrs. K. H. Sutherland. It was in the pleasant Sutherland home, 2424 Riverside drive, that the hosts called together Dr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Russell, Dr. Mabel A. Geddes and Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King, to meet their guest. Dinner was served to the accompaniment of candlelight, flowers and a flow of interesting conversation before the distinguished guest left to fill his engagement at Willard Junior high school. There he addressed the High School P. T. A. on subjects similar to those discussed in the afternoon before the Women's auxiliary to Orange County Medical association, meeting in Eboli clubhouse.

Contract Enthusiasts

That mutual interest in contract bridge which brings a little group of a dozen prominent women together at semi-monthly intervals, was in evidence Tuesday when Mrs. W. A. Flood received the club in her home, 1802 North Main street. Luncheon was served to the accompaniment of a lively buzz of conversation, matching in cheer the colorful table appointments. Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. H. B. Van Dien made special scores of 100 and 110.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By JOHN HIX

The author's great ability in writing, creating a vivid picture for the reader. See 10 p. 10.

Sarah Josepha Hale is America's own "first lady of achievement." Crowded into her busy career, which was not started well until she was past 40 and a widow, were activities which were to be the foundations of many of our institutions and customs of today.

She campaigned for intellectual advancement of women and fought to give them property right, physical training, better pay, instruction in domestic science, and positions as teachers in schools. Vassar College owes its foundation in part to Mrs. Hale.

It was she who almost singlehandedly fought the long battle for recognition of Thanksgiving Day as an American holiday, and she raised the money for Bunker Hill monument. The movement to make Mt. Vernon a national shrine had lapsed to obscurity when Mrs. Hale rescued it. In civic activities she was a successful advocate of elementary education, day nurseries, public playgrounds, civic health, and law against child labor. She sponsored the first medical missionaries, organized the Seaman's Aid Society—all these things she did, and still had time to write a score of books and 100 poems, among them one of the best known in the country—"Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Hydrogen is lighter than air, and when it is "poured" into a container the container is inverted. As hydrogen enters it rises to top, displacing the air. A more practical method is by displacement of water. In this way the container is first filled with water. Hydrogen is bubbled up through the water into the inverted container, and as it rises it displaces the water.

CHAPMAN WINS SUIT RULING

Charles C. Chapman, of Fullerton, and his co-defendants in a $1,842,265 stockholders liability suit brought by the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, won victory today in superior court when Judge George K. Scovel sustained their objection to the introduction of evidence, and held that the bank's complaint failed to state a cause of action because it failed to allege that security for the debt had been exhausted before seeking to collect from the stockholders of the debtor company.

The motion of Judge P. C. Drumm, of defense counsel, for dismissal of the action and judgment for the defendants on the pleadings, was denied, and the bank was allowed 30 days in which to file amendments in an attempt to cure the defects of its complaint.

The defense, however, hailed its victory as complete so far as the trial court is concerned, making no secret of the belief that the bank attorneys will be unable to amend their complaint sufficiently to cure it. It was recognized by both court and counsel that the case undoubtedly will be carried to the higher courts on appeal.

The court's ruling, given after hearing two days of argument from counsel, held in effect that the Santa Ysabel Land company, of Fullerton, in assuming the obligation of outstanding bonds of the Hotel Alexandria, Corporation, of Los Angeles, in 1932, did not become a guarantor of payment, and its stockholders therefore had no primary liability for the bonds, and could only be held liable for a deficiency after the security was exhausted. The bank sued the stockholders for the entire debt, and made no reference in its complaint to the security.

It is this legal point that will be the crux of the appeal, attorneys said.

Attorney R. F. Prince, of the Los Angeles firm, Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher, headed a corps of bank attorneys at the hearing, with S. M. Reinhaus, of Santa Ana, associated, Judge Drumm represented the defense argument, aided by Congressman Sam L. Collins, J. B. Tucker and Alvin Drumm.

Chapman and members of his family, who were in court to hear the argument, congratulated the defense attorneys heartily at the conclusion of the proceeding.

"BILLY" SUNDAY

The news reaches us today that "Billy" Sunday has passed away.

"Billy" Sunday was an interesting character who made a powerful impress upon hundreds of communities in this country and changed the course in the lives of tens of thousands of men and women.

"Billy" was a combination of athlete, clergyman, dramatist, showman and business man. He began a public career as a baseball player. He fielded well and was an expert at baserunning.

In those days there was much more general dissipation among the professional players than there is today. In fact, there is practically none today and at that day it was not taboo. "Billy" joined with the others in their convivial evening pastimes.

Standing on the street corner with some of his companion players one evening between two days of a series in Chicago, he heard and followed the invitation of a group of mission workers from the old Pacific Garden mission on Van Buren street.

"Billy" parted with his companions that night. He experienced a "conversion" in this mission, and, according to his message afterwards, "consecrated" his life there.

He did not immediately sever his relations with baseball, but he refused to participate in Sunday games. As a lad we heard him when he was still playing center field, as we recall, for Cincinnati.

The team was playing on this particular Sunday in a park on the edge of our city. It was announced that "Billy" Sunday would address a meeting on a religious subject Sunday afternoon in a theater. We had been following his career as a baseball player. We went down to hear him at the theater. The admission was free.

We recall how with halting, hesitant speech he told his story and related his experiences. Soon after this, he resigned as a baseball player and accepted a position at one-fifth the salary as a Y. M. C. A. secretary in the city of Chicago.

Desperately in earnest, he soon found himself in evangelistic work, to which he set himself apart exclusively and became, in a few years, the most flaming, dynamic evangelist that the country had ever seen.

Probably nearly all of us have heard "Billy" Sunday. We heard him at his best some years ago, before a union of the luncheon clubs in the city of Portland. In the course of his eloquent and dramatic address, he told again the story of his experiences in his early days and of those of his companions who were with him the night he was led into the mission.

He told how every one of them had called him a "fool" for leaving his lucrative job as a baseball player and devoting himself to religious work. Then, he described, in turn, the last days of each one of his companions, most of whom, because of their habits, died "where manhood's morning had not even approached noon."

As he dramatically described each case, he would conclude: "Was he or I the fool? I am in the full flush of health and strength today, doing the Master's work." With that strenuous work, he lived longer than the usually spoken of allotted days of man, for he would have been 72 years old on the 19th of this month.

He preached his final sermon within the last month.

Whole communities were changed because of the influence of evangelistic meetings conducted by Mr. Sunday in such communities. He was instrumental in arousing such communities against the liquor traffic, cities frequently entering a campaign against license following his meetings and winning such campaigns that had been unable to do so.

"Billy" Sunday represented an era in religious and reform endeavor. Few, if any, men of his generation had the graphic power of emotional appeal as did he. "Billy" did not change in his temperament or style with the changing modes and ideas of the times, but he never ceased to draw great crowds and he still retained his magnetic influence and power to a considerable degree.

Many men and women in this land are fine in character, are loved and respected and have local influence and power, who trace their changed lives to the appeal of "Billy" Sunday, that they should "hit the sawdust trail."

We are not likely to see his kind again.

NEW AUTOMOBILES

The automobile show is being held in Los Angeles this week and if you should be so fortunate as to be able to attend, you will be made to feel that the old world is almost back to normal.

Thousands of people—all getting along fairly well in this mad world—are milling about with one wish uppermost in their minds—a new car.

Now you can see them all in Santa Ana, but when the wish exceeds the bank balance, perhaps it is easier to just move along in an automobile show when a salesman starts to getting personal.

The old car may "have to" do, but the American public is out after a new one, just as soon as a trading value has been established in the old one.

And why not? These new cars give an added thrill and zest to life. Life without a car is just a flat existence to the many, while life in the company with a modern mechanical wonder makes the man, with 17 monthly payments yet ahead of him, the superior of his fellow man who drives a two-year-old car, all newly washed and paid for.

We are not arguing what ought to be, nor would we begrudge to any man the thrill of feeling like a millionaire.

By and large, the automobile has served to weld us all together. Our problems have become national problems, our viewpoints those of a cosmopolitan people.

Our laws may be more appropriate for an age decorated with horse shoes and rustled by a half dozen satin petticoats, but our new cars are the lures that cause the many to strive towards better goals.

These things we speak of as new cars may not live or breathe, yet if the world looks dull and gray to you, call up a local dealer, take a modern ride, and the world will do you homage, for whosoever has the latest car is indeed the king among men.

MEMORIAL FUND FOR WILL ROGERS

Men and women would be kindly, human, charming and big enough to poke a bit of fun at themselves and others, but only an occasional genius consistently cultivates all those social graces and lives to charm the world.

Will Rogers was a man whom millions wished they were. But the struggle for a livelihood is so intense for the many of us whose ability is but average that the man or woman that we might have been becomes instead the person that we are. This is not entirely pleasing either to ourselves or to others.

Only occasionally does nature endow a man or woman with these superlative intellectual qualities that friend and foe alike respect.

Rarer still is the man who remains humble in full knowledge of the power of his talents. In a world dominated by men and women who love to strut their superiority and burn it into the consciousness of others, an able man, willing to share the highway of life with all mankind upon an equal basis, shines forth with amazing luster.

Funds are now being raised for a memorial to Will Rogers. Those who give and those who would like to give do so in order to honor a man they respected, loved and admired, but in a deeper sense they but honor those qualities of character they themselves would like to possess in greater abundance.

The tribute to Will Rogers is a tribute also to aspirations of that great mass of people who so sincerely admired Will Rogers.

In England

Oakland Tribune

A news item from Pennsylvania tells of a seventy-five per cent increase in accidents caused by drunken drivers. Daily we read of fines and sentences being imposed on such and sometimes driving licenses are suspended for a few weeks or months. It is argued that incarceration often causes greater hardships on the family of the offender than upon himself; that a fine seems to be no deterrent.

While the English method may not be generally recommended, the following story from the Kent Messenger may stand as an editorial footnote on the subject of traffic law violations in the United States:

Eric Prince, civil servant, Little Farthingloe Farm, Dover, was disqualified from driving for life at Dover Police Court on Wednesday.

Prince was accused of being in charge of a car whilst under the influence of drink and with dangerous driving.

It was stated that a car driven by Prince smashed into a bicycle and carried it from Priory street to the Golden Lion Public House.

Dr. J. R. W. Richardson, police surgeon, said that defendant was under the influence of drink. Mr. John Mowll, for defendant, pleaded guilty to the charge of dangerous driving.

If there should be a conviction on the first charge he said, defendant would be automatically suspended from his work in the civil service and would lose his pension. He was a married man and would be ruined for life.

Prince gave an undertaking not to drive for the rest of his life.

Lima Growers Optimistic

Santa Barbara News

If bean prices for the 1935 crop advance, as now seems assured, bean growers of Santa Barbara county should realize a material profit above cost of production, in the opinion of local growers and shippers. The former are coming to the close of the season with substantial crop returns, as reports from Santa Maria valley indicate, so far as the yield of small whites and pink beans is concerned, while in the coast areas lima growers already have begun to see prices incline upward. Santa Maria valley reports 100,000 bags of beans as this year's crop, and the harvest is now in full swing in that section. Loss from moisture and wind will be slight, it was reported, and all the growers now need to end the year profitably are better prices.

The lima crop along the coast is about under cover, and with the price strengthening growers are highly optimistic. Factors which have tended to reduce the crop in the state include the rains and cold, which result in discoloration, and the wind, which has been known in a night to wipe out a grower's entire crop. Survey of Santa Barbara's lima belt indicates little loss from either of these factors, while in some other parts of the lima growing region as much as a 50 per cent loss was suffered. This helps the market, and so the lima bean growers of the county feel that their optimism is well warranted. Certainly, all county residents will watch bean quotations, generally, for when the bean grower is prosperous prosperity finds its way into other homes the county over.

Lawyers' Union Grows

San Francisco Chronicle

California was among the early states to establish by law the self-governing bar, or what was at one time facetiously referred to as the Lawyer's Soviet.

Representing one of the most individualistic of the professions, the lawyers are nevertheless taking leadership in organization. In this state it is not only necessary to be admitted to practice and to be an officer of the court, but the lawyer must join the State Bar association, pay his dues and submit to the discipline of his fellows.

Now comes William L. Ransom, president of the American Bar association, and says that the time is not far away when all lawyers, "whether they like it or not," will be compelled by legislative action to join their State Bar association. He points out that the "curb rein" of bar associations is now in effect in 17 states. Either by court decree or legislative action members are amenable to the discipline and subject to the consensus of the organized profession.

In other words, according to President Ransom, the personal views of the well-known dissident 10 per cent are disregarded. In 17 states all are compelled to join the union, and now the drive is on to line up the remaining states. It may seem paradoxical that the chief champions of personal liberty are the leaders in the 100 per cent organization movement.

But this is no legal fiction; it is a fact.

Just A Reminder

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE PARTY OF THE OPPOSITION

The leadership of the Republican Party could profitably take a few days off to ponder the role of an opposition party in a democracy.

Someone—I have for the moment forgotten who, whether Disraeli, Mark Hanna, or neither—once said that the business of an opposition is to oppose.

In a sense, of course, this is true. Unless there are material differences between the party in power and the party out of power, there is no point to a change in leadership.

But, in formulating its opposition, it is neither necessary nor desirable that the party out of power issue a blanket indictment of everything the party in power has done, although this is the tendency of the politician who does not rise above the stature of the mere office seeker.

The political life of a nation becomes meaningless when there is no essential difference between its major parties, or has been true for long stretches of years in American life.

The political life of a nation becomes meaningless when there is no essential difference between its major parties, or has been true for long stretches of years in American life.

The political life of a nation becomes impossible, as a peaceful process, when the difference between its major parties is not a difference of degree but a difference of kind so deep that nothing but the extermination of one or the other can really settle things, a difference of kind so deep that it cannot be settled by the peaceful processes of discussion. Despite the seemingly wide difference between the Democratic and Republican parties, it is really a difference of degree and a dispute over methods; it is not so much a difference over objectives as a difference over roads to these objectives.

Aside from this or that individual who may have some Utopian blueprint up his sleeve, Democrats and Republicans alike want a prosperous America in which the living standards for all are high and opportunity justly administered.

It is the business of the Republican opposition to subject the detailed methods and policies of the Democratic administration to a searching criticism to see just where they advance us towards and where they veer us away from this objective, and then fight it out on these points.

If any given percentage of Democratic policies is sound, the opposition will be stronger for admitting as much. Only so can the opposition attack significantly, and, as an astute Englishman said recently, when a party has lost its power of attacking significantly, it rapidly ceases to have meaning for the electorate.

The truth of all this becomes evident as one watches some Republicans fumbling with the farm problem. They—that is, some Republicans—feel in their bones that the AAA is a doubtful affair, but, suspecting that many farmers will cling to the material benefits the AAA for the moment confers, they hesitate to damn it in toto, and yet seem to feel a bit sheepish that they can't.

Tomorrow I shall try to indicate what seems to me a sane point of view from which to approach a criticism of the AAA.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

DREAM STUFF

I hope nobody gives to me
The thing that's called a Family Tree,
So all my kin
Might wander in
And ask to borrow money;
And if, perhaps, they got in jail
And asked of me to furnish bail
To get them out
I rather doubt
That it would be so funny.

I have no crest nor quarterings;
I have no ancient signet rings.
I have no deep
Dark donjon keep,
Nor do I own a castle.
If burglars came, by night and stealth,
To steal my little store of wealth,
They'd get my all,
I could not call
A solitary vassal.

Perhaps you think I would not care
To stroll along the thoroughfare.
Alone and proud
While all the crowd
Paid rentals to me yearly.
And I so grandly moved along.
But that, dear friend, is where you're wrong.
I'd like to own
A regal throne.
I'd like it very dearly.

Just because one man gets a brain storm does the whole of Europe need to be thrust into war?

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

What if the doctor doesn't help you? It's worth the money to have somebody give a darn how you feel.

It's got so you can't pick out the old grads at a football game. The uneducated get drunk, too.

But first show us some great work done by a man who wasn't trying to make a profit.

There is nothing certain about the fate of Ethiopia, except that England will get her share when the carving is done.

It's a land of opportunity, but it is too much like giving a prisoner opportunity to run and then shooting him for it.

YOU CAN TELL THE UNDERLING WHO WILL STAY DOWN. HE IS THE ONE WHO IS HORRIFIED WHEN THE OTHERS CALL THE BOSS OLD PIE-FACE.

Government effort to prevent drouth is unusual. There is no opposition bureau trying to make drouths.

The war propagandists are slipping. Neither side has yet reported infants skewered on bayonets.

You never know how low a man will stoop till he faces bankruptcy or becomes a candidate.

AMERICANISM: Lawyers making the laws and court procedure; district courts with 8000 lagging cases to fatten lawyers.

Nature balances things, and a man mean enough to beat his wife usually gets one mean enough to need it.

No wonder boys long for another war. They must have a war record to get a government job.

Why worry about the war? When you see a buzz-saw, do you wonder whether you can keep out of it?

PITY ALSO THE POOR WHO HAVE A LOT OF MONEY AND HAVEN'T SENSE ENOUGH TO GET ANY FUN OUT OF IT.

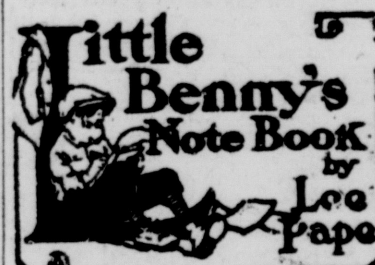

Never again send our boys across. We can get the same result for less money by sending them across the street.

Better change Uncle Sam to Aunt Sam. No masculine mind could think up so many ways to waste money.

How to handle a government project: Start with a good scheme and then think up rules and regulations till you choke it to death.

It's no use, Mr. Hoover. They never forgive a man who happens to be on the job when the fiddler's bill arrives.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "IF EVER MY WIFE RUNS OFF WITH ANOTHER FELLOW," SAID THE MAN, "I KNOW JUST WHAT I'LL DO."

Saturday before supper I heard the fellows starting to play hockey out in the street and I started to look around for my hockey stick and didn't see it anywhere, saying, Aw heck, where's that old hockey stick, every time I put something somewhere it's not there any more, gosh shang the luck, good nite, that's a heck of a note, goll darn it, aw heck.

Now don't get yourself into a stew, pop, salone. This is one of those critical moments that call for a clear head and strate thinking. The world's great executives owe their position to their ability to keep their heads while ordinary men are blowing up all about them. Don't you want to be a grate executive? he said, and I said, I want to find my hockey stick, darn it all it's not here anywheres.

A moment's reflection will convince you of the absurdity of that conclusion, pop said. If you left it in the house, ipso facti hocus pocus it must be in the house. A grate executive, if placed in the same predicament, would resort to the process of elimination. Cooly and calmly he would check off the places from which the hockey stick is absent, and thus by elimination he would discover the place where it is present. Let's start with the most likely place, the hall closet, have you looked there? pop said, and I said, Sure, G, that's a first place I looked.

And have you searched the other closets and your own room and the back yard? pop said, and I said, Yes sir and everywhere elts and it's not anywheres.

Then by the law of elimination your hockey stick is not in the house and circumstantial evidents points to fowl play, pop said, and ma said, Fowl fiddlesticks, it's probably in the first place he looked if I'm any judge of passed performances.

And she went and looked in the hall closet and came back with my hockey stick, pop saying, Yee gods, I resign from the case.

Meaning what was the use.

The first freight airplane in history arrived today at Columbus, Ohio, after having flown from Dayton with a consignment of silk for a Columbus firm. The plane had made the 45-mile trip in an hour and ten minutes. It was piloted by Aviator Parmelee and the flight was made under supervision of the Wright brothers to demonstrate that an airplane is valuable for other things than amusement.

TEACH COURAGE

Toby and I were walking home from school across the park. Toby is twelve. Suddenly I saw him stop, put up his hands as if to ward off a blow. When I looked at him he was as pale as a ghost.

"Why, Toby, what's the matter?" I asked.

"No-nothing. I'm all right now."

"Tell me, are you ill?"

"No, not really, but a feather just brushed my face. I've always been afraid of feathers. Nurse used to frighten me with a feather whenever I was bad. That happened long ago, but if a feather touches me unexpectedly my heart stands still and my stomach turns over. Sounds silly, doesn't it?"

"Not at all. Lots of people have fears of that kind. I knew a boy who was afraid to go by a flat rock.

When he was a baby he used to run away. His mother told him a terrible story about a flat, spawly rock that hid a monster. She told the baby that the evil one would get him if he ever went by that rock alone. He was cured. He never ran away, but the fear lasted, poisoned his thoughts, and keeps him afraid even to this day."

"Queer things parents do to their children," mused Toby.

Indeed they do when they use fear to make a child obey. Fear is a terrible force. It may serve for the time being, usually it does, but there is always danger that the fear will remain, and when you least expect it, it will open and disclose the old wound.

I don't believe it is wise to use fear in training children. Naturally we must teach children not to run away, not to climb to places of danger, not to rock a boat, to avoid deep water, not to be careless in crossing streets, not to play with fire. But let our teaching be positive.

How is that to be accomplished? I wish I knew the right answer, the one that would fit every problem, suit every child's need. But I don't. A few things that experience has taught me I feel safe in passing on to you.

We don't want children to be afraid. We do want them to be reasonably cautious. So we cultivate intelligence instead of instiling fear. We don't say, "If you cross the street you'll be killed." But we teach the child to stop at the crossing, look up and down the street, right and left, obey the lights and the policeman.

Teach the child to be intelligent and you teach him to be courageous. Have faith in the child's goodness, in his common sense, and you won't be forever trying to make the child afraid in order to save him from disaster. Fear paralyzes intelligence, so be wary of it. Faith and confidence beget courage, and I am inclined to believe that the greater part of courage is good health. Value health and you insure the child's future in most things. Never use false fear in the education of children. It is the enemy of childhood and causes more trouble than we can well manage.
